Dulles, Faure Meet

Differ On Bao Dai Status

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure met privately Saturday on the first anniversary of the fall of Dien Bien Phu to the Reds in North Viet Nam. The two emerged still at odds on how to keep communism from spreading into South Viet Nam.

A two-hour conference in the premier's office failed to produce a joint policy toward the Saigon government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and the position of ex-emperor Bao Dai, nominal chief of state of South Viet Nam. Diem is officially backed by the United States.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan joined Dulles and Faure briefly during their talk. Faure told reporters another meeting on South Viet Nam will be held Monday or Tuesday.

The bigger problem of saving all Southeast Asia for the free world also will come up at a later meeting of these three diplomats. They are also concerned with how to save Formosa from a Red China invasion and how to promote a cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

With Dulles were U. S. Ambassador Douglas Dillon and the embassy's expert on Indochina, William Gibson. Faure had Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and a battery of experts from his office.

Anti-Communist leaders of South Viet Nam are deep in local squabbles, a year before a scheduled election race with pro-Communist Ho Chi Minh for control of a unified nation. It was split into two zones at the Geneva conference, following the Dien Bien Phu disaster. The two areas, which form the southeast corner of continental Asia, have more than 22 million people in an area about the size of New Mexico.

In the south, Premier Diem is moving toward a republic, after consolidating his power in a series of bloody street battles. Ex-Emperor Bao Dai, the nominal Chief of State, has fled to Paris from his Riviera villa in an attempt to plead his case with Dulles.

Bao Dai seems to want to go back to Viet Nam, which he has not seen for a year, if only as a constitutional king.

U.S. Population Rises 25 Million In Ten Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau said Saturday the population of the United States increased by about 25 million in the 10 years since victory day in Europe, May 8, 1945.

In May, 1945, the population including the armed forces overseas was nearing the 140 million mark.

The bureau estimated that on May 8 this year the figure will be 164,865,000 and that by the end of the month it will go over the 165 million mark.

Michigan sold more than $500,000 worth of products from its state-owned forests in 1954.

Gridironers Pan Eisenhower, Squirrels Also Truman And His Man, Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was depicted Saturday night as sending a message to White House squirrels asking them not to spoil his golf score because he may not be around Washington long.

Adlai Stevenson was described as suggesting maybe the Democrats "better get someone who can lose solemnly" next year, without any wisecracks.

And the President's new "pen pal," Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, sang to him in a foreign affairs skit played "at the summit" — atop Mt. Everest — because the United States has given away Asia and Europe and "there just ain't much left below the timber line."

All this happened at the annual dinner of the Gridiron Club of Washington correspondents at the Hotel Statler. The organization celebrated its 70th anniversary with its customary program of skits poking fun at the nation's political leaders.

The dinner also commemorated the 10th anniversary of VE-Day, the victory won in Europe under

Dulles And Adenauer Consider Strategy

PARIS (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer exchanged views for more than an hour Saturday on Western strategy for a Big Four meeting and other vital East-West issues.

They got together at the U. S. Embassy shortly after their arrival for the conference on the Atlantic community's foreign ministers.

Report Humphrey Expects Balanced Budget Next Year

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey reportedly has given business leaders reason to hope for both tax cuts and a balanced federal budget next year — the fiscal 1957 budget due next January.

Humphrey spoke to the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Department at its spring meeting here. The session was closed but some of those attending gave newsmen a partial account.

The secretary qualified his optimism with "all kinds of ifs," one informant said, but based on the upsurge of business activity which—if continued—will increase income and corporate tax revenues.

Another industry participant said that Humphrey spoke only in general terms but that he—the BAC member—was convinced that the administration will "send up a balanced budget in January."

The council itself, made up of about 100 heads of the country's largest corporations, gave Humphrey reason for satisfaction about the prospects for federal revenues. The council's own technical Economic Committee, headed by Donald K. David, dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, predicted that high-level business activity will continue through 1955 and into 1956.

RUMOR GRACE KELLY, AUMONT ROMANCE

CANNES, France (AP) — The movie world represented at the Cannes film festival was buzzing with rumors Saturday of romance between Oscar-winning Grace Kelly and French star Jean-Pierre Aumont. Since the American star's arrival here several days ago, the two have been seen lunching and dining at discreet little restaurants at various points along the Riviera coast.

SILENT ZHUKOV

BERLIN (AP) — Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense minister, Saturday played a quiet role in the city he conquered 10 years ago. He took part in Communist East Berlin's ceremonies marking the anniversary of the German surrender, but he didn't make a speech.

The Supreme Allied Commander

Gen. Eisenhower.

The President headed a list of 900 guests drawn from the cabinet, supreme court, diplomacy, congress, journalism, business and labor.

Edward T. Follard of the Washington Post and Times Herald, president of the club, sounded the keynote of the entertainment with some good-natured digs at the President's foreign policy opposition within the GOP.

He said while Eisenhower looked hopefully to the Far East "some of his Republicans on the Hill are not very happy. Sens. Knowland, Bridges and Jenner say that the only thing we have to fear is peace itself."

"That's the way things go around here," he added. "The Democrats are afraid to attack the President, and the Republicans are afraid to support him."

A soloist representing Vice President Nixon, a guest in the flesh at the dinner, said he had given considerable thought to what would happen if Eisenhower should not run again. The thought, in music, added up to Nixon.

Democratic presidential hopefuls were presented as dreaming denizens of Peter Pan's Never-Never Land. Peter Pan was Gov. Averell Harriman, who had come from Albany to teach 1956 aspirants how to fly. Capt. Hook of the fantasy, was translated into an impersonation of former President Truman, who said he would give 'em hell "just like in '48" with his man, Adlai Stevenson.

"But 'Stevenson,'" suggesting maybe the Democrats should get someone who "can lose solemnly," sang to the tune of "Mister Sandman."

"Mister Truman, you've got a dream.

"Of an election that's right on the team.

"But I don't know that I'd be in clover—

After 55 Days Accord In Strike Of L&N Imminent

ATLANTA (AP) — One of the two major strikes gripping the Southeast appeared to be on the verge of ending Saturday, but new dynamite blasts and gunshots punctuated both disputes.

In Washington, negotiators recessed a mediation session until Monday after a day of hope that a pact could be signed to halt the walkout on the vast L & N system and send the issues to arbitration.

Francis O'Neill, chairman of the National Mediation Board, said both sides were "so close together they're scorching each other" and declared he was "real optimistic."

Gen. Gates Decries Need For Better Air Force Housing

RANTOUL, Ill. (AP) — A high-ranking Air Force officer said Saturday the service's reenlistment rate "is almost a national scandal, and it can be traced directly to the Air Force's inability to take care of family life."

Major Gen. B. E. Gates, commander of Chanute Air Force Base, said "We are strong militarily, but we are weak in the business of providing a living environment for the families on which our military strength depends."

Gen. Gates, who will retire May 31 after 38 years of service, has been in charge at Chanute for the last five years.

He told the Illinois state convention of the Reserve Officers' Assn. he believes he is the last World War I pilot still on active duty. "You and I should be concentrating on better living conditions for the kids who will have to fight the next war," he told the reservists.

Gen. Gates said many of the personal problems common to Air Force men have been ameliorated by local voluntary efforts of base personnel and community leaders. "You can't house people from the pentagon," he told the reserve group. "It has to be done at the base level."

He said the recent pay increase voted for members of the military forces by Congress "is not the answer to the main problem."

"The people of the Air Force are asking, not for more money, but for a decent way of life for their families.

"We have tried to find the answer here. For the nation's sake the entire Air Force had better find it."

Plan To Rarm East Germany, Soviet Announces

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany's Prime Minister announced in a bellicose speech Saturday that a Soviet bloc military alliance to rival NATO will be set up in Warsaw next week. He also said "great preparations" have been made to rearm East Germany, whose so-called barracks police are now estimated 100,000 strong.

The military alliance plan, foreshadowed by Moscow announcements of the Warsaw conference, calls for rearming East Germany and putting all the armies of East European Communist countries under a unified command.

East Germany's Communist Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl made his disclosures at an East Berlin ceremony marking the 10th anniversary of Germany's World War II surrender.

Grotewohl did not say on what date the "barracks police" would be turned into a full-fledged army and expanded. He charged that the Western Allies were turning West Germany into an "army camp" and riddling his country with spies. "We warn all those who lift their dirty hands against the peaceful reconstruction of our country: Be careful, we strike—hard," he said.

CHICAGO CIVIC LEADER MRS. ADLER, 84, DIES

CHICAGO (AP) — The death of Mrs. Sophie Rosenwald Adler, long time Chicago philanthropist and civic leader, was reported today to friends in Chicago.

Mrs. Adler, 84, died in her Beverly Hills, Calif., home.

She was the widow of Max Adler, former vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., the nation's largest mail order firm. Her late brother, Julius Rosenwald, was president of Sears.

Mrs. Adler, a native of Springfield, Ill., was a founder of the seeing eye dog movement, and a lobbyist for the so-called silver nitrate laws which require treatment of the eyes of new-born babies for prevention of congenital post natal infection blindness.

Political Mistake To Scrap Ike's Ag Program: Ellender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said Saturday "It would be a mistake" for Democrats to try to push through the Senate this year a bill scrapping the Eisenhower-Benson farm price program.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a veteran of Democratic politics, said he made "a canvas of the committee and the Senate and I doubt that we have the votes to do it right now."

House Democrats on Thursday succeeded in ramming through a bill that would discard the present law providing for flexible farm price supports.

The vote was 206-201 with most Democrats voting for continuance of high rigid supports that have operated since World War II. "I'm still for the 90 per cent supports until something better is offered," Ellender said. "But if we tried and lost in the Senate now, that would be a political mistake."

"And there is no strong demand yet from farmers because the lower flexible supports have not gone into operation, except for a slight drop in wheat."

Debbie Reynolds To Think Over Wedding Plans

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds said Saturday her two-week stint entertaining troops in Korea will give both her and Eddie Fisher "time to do a lot of thinking about our marriage."

"This is a decision about our whole lives and we just can't make it right away," she told a reporter.

Debbie said she and Eddie must decide on whether to be married as planned in July or to wait.

"We're not stalling," she said. "We are not children either. The question of getting married involves the rest of our lives and we want to give it patient consideration."

The young actress added that she considers her career secondary to marriage.

"Eddie and I are very much in love," she said. "I know lots of girls who have given up their careers and have been very happy about it."

Debbie, who leaves next Friday for Korea, added that, "All my life my parents have taught me to seek happiness. I feel my happiness will be with Eddie."

Reds Unroll Red Carpet For U.S. Veterans Of Elbe

MOSCOW (AP) — Nine American veterans of the Elbe coming here for a World War II reunion have been assured the red carpet treatment by the Russians.

Under the auspices of Red Star, official newspaper of the Soviet Armed Forces, and Trud, organ of the Soviet Central Trade Unions, a special welcoming committee has been appointed. Also special offices have been set aside with a telephone which Western correspondents can use to call the Americans for information.

One thing is certain: The Russians are going to make the maximum propaganda out of the visit. The Americans were among the first Western troops to meet Russian soldiers on the Elbe in Germany 10 years ago.

The veterans are in Paris and are expected to arrive here by plane Sunday.

They are William Weisel of Cincinnati, Ohio; Charles C. Forrester of Greer, S.C.; Robert Haag, Indianapolis, Ind.; Fred W. Johnston of Bradford, Pa.; Claude W. Moore of Newbern, Tenn.; Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, Ill.; Elijah R. Sams Jr., Pinnacle, N.C.; Murray Schulman of Queens Village, N.Y., and Byron L. Shiver of Lakeland, Fla.

Hemorrhage In Brodie Boy's Brain May Have Stopped

CHICAGO (AP) — Doctors said Saturday night that the mysterious brain hemorrhage which unexpectedly threatened Rodney Dee Brodie's life "may have stopped."

They reported that the famous 34-year-old boy, first head-jointed Slamese twin to recover from a separation operation, "looks better and is resting comfortably."

However, he remains in a coma into which he lapsed early Friday, 2½ years after the operation.

Earlier a spokesman at the University of Illinois Education and Research Hospital had reported that doctors were unable to stop the bleeding in Rodney's brain. The only hope, the spokesman said, was that the hemorrhage would stop spontaneously.

Rodney has been receiving blood transfusions as needed.

Rodney was stricken while with his family at their downstate home in Ferris. The first sign something was wrong was when he became lethargic. He had difficulty getting around and stopped running and playing with his brothers and sisters.

His father, Royt, hurried him by car to the Chicago hospital Tuesday. The same surgical team that separated him performed a 1½-hour exploratory operation Thursday morning.

They found the seat of bleeding too deep to reach.

A spokesman for the hospital, which disclosed Rodney's condition Friday night, said that "as far as was known, there was no apparent injury that would have caused this condition."

AMA Official Suggests 'Don'ts' Regarding Polio Vaccination

CHICAGO (AP) — A top official of the American Medical Assn. Saturday suggested a few "don'ts" to the American public when the program of vaccinations with Salk vaccine is clarified.

Dr. Dwight H. Murray of Napa, Calif., chairman of the trustees of AMA, in Chicago for a medical meeting, offered the following:

"1. Don't let hysteria guide your thoughts and actions. While poliomyelitis is a serious disease, it has not reached epidemic proportions. Since Jan. 1 of this year only 1,452 cases of polio have been reported, compared with 1,976 in the corresponding weeks last year. This figure, applied against a population of 163,000,000 people in the United States, certainly is not alarming."

"2. Don't permit your child to be vaccinated if he or she complains of not feeling well.

"3. Don't condemn the Salk vaccine. Because a few children, out of the many thousands so far vaccinated is no good reason to knock down the effectiveness of the vaccine.

"4. Don't expect vaccine to be produced overnight. Pharmaceutical houses manufacturing it are working day and night to speed production and everything is being done to produce sufficient vaccine to inoculate as many children as possible before the polio season gets rolling."

"5. Don't expect the Salk vaccine to be 100 per cent effective. Some cases will develop but this vaccine is far better than anything we have ever had before.

PHS To Announce Conclusions Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid nationwide perplexity, a group of experts worked in shirtsleeves around a conference table Saturday night on what to tell the American people Sunday about the Salk anti-polio vaccine program.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele had suddenly urged a halt in the mass inoculations after an all night meeting of top level scientists last night. He said the inoculations should be postponed pending Sunday's statement, the contents of which he refused to forecast.

He said Saturday's conference dealt with "scientific problems and programs." In response to reporters' questions he said he thought tomorrow's statement would clear things up so that people will "know what to do Monday morning."

Taking part in Saturday's conference with Dr. Scheele was Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine. Others included Dr. William H. Seabell, Jr., director of the National Institutes of Health; Dr. James A. Shannon, associate director of the National Institutes and its top research man; Dr. David E. Price, assistant surgeon general, and Dr. W. Palmer Dearing, deputy surgeon general.

ON WITH SHOTS—Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U. S. Surgeon General, as he testified before the House Banking Committee which began hearings on bills calling for compulsory Federal controls over distribution of the Salk vaccine. Dr. Scheele termed the Salk vaccine "very useful," and said the nationwide vaccination program "should go on."

Dr. Scheele, who heads the U.S. Public Health Service, declined to comment when told that unconfirmed reports were being broadcast that there was nothing wrong with the vaccine, but that existing supplies should be re-examined.

"Pending the Sunday announcement," the Public Health Service statement said, "the surgeon general recommended that states and municipalities postpone their vaccination programs."

This reversal of previous urging that the nationwide inoculation of first and second grade school children go forward, repeated only Friday by Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele, brought a deluge of telephone calls from perplexed health officials.

Dr. Scheele conferred with a group of government research spokesmen.

Daley Reaffirms Desire For Penny Sales Tax Increase

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago Saturday sent word to downstate mayors he is carrying the ball for their cities as well as his own in asking for a penny sales tax increase for two years.

It was the second time in two days that Daley put himself on record in favor of the proposal as the best hope of solving municipal financial ills. Under it, cities would get one half of the added 200 million dollar revenue during 1955-57.

His emissary, Arthur Lindell, Chicago budget director, spoke to a meeting of the Illinois Municipal League. It convened to discuss legislative problems, including finances.

The league voted in favor of resolutions supporting Daley's proposal for the two year sales tax increase, revision of the state constitution's revenue article, and legislation to permit a utility tax of up to 5 per cent to be levied by cities.

"As Lindell put it," the program we present to the Legislature will not be a Chicago program but a program for all the municipalities of Illinois." This evoked applause of the city officials who were groping for ways to extend their cities' purses.

Food Preserved By Nuclear Energy Predicted For '65

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Price (D-Ill.) predicted Saturday the housewife of 1965 will be buying perishable foods preserved by nuclear energy in place of the frozen foods of today.

This, said Price, is one of several foreseeable benefits from the radiosterilization of foods, a process now under intensive study by the Department of Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

The congressman is chairman of a Senate-House Atomic Energy Subcommittee which opens public hearings Monday into the progress of a five million dollar research program on radiosterilization.

"The radiosterilization of foods," Price said in a statement, "promises to be as important to the American people in 10 years time as are frozen foods today."

"This revolutionary new method of preserving food will make it possible to store some of today's perishable foods—meats, vegetables, fruits, perhaps even milk—for long periods of time with little or no special equipment."

Scientists already have told the subcommittee that laboratories have kept potatoes and other perishables indefinitely by treating them with radioactive processes.

As one result, Price said, fighting men in remote areas can hope for more variety in food shipped to them by cheaper and less awkward methods than with present refrigeration ships.

Parliamentarian Spends Two Days At MacMurray

Mrs. Frederick S. Haeberle of St. Louis, a national authority on parliamentary procedure who has written several textbooks based on the simplification of Roberts Rules of Order, was at MacMurray College on Wednesday and Thursday of last week to work with the college students.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Haeberle met with the entire student body at their Students' Association meeting. At 7:00 p.m. Thursday she met with all the newly elected officers of campus organizations, and their advisors, to start a training program in parliamentary procedure and organizational leadership. She selected, for the evening meeting, a temporary chairman whom she coached throughout the meeting in handling the parliamentary procedural issues.

Mrs. Haeberle is adept at furnishing examples of how to handle all the processes dealing with the business of a meeting. On Thursday she met with five clinics of students to answer specific problems and questions.

From Jacksonville Mrs. Haeberle proceeded to Oklahoma City, Okla., where on Sunday she will address a meeting of the South-Central Regional Conference of the Toastmistress club, speaking on "Common Mistakes Made by Chairmen."

Mrs. Haeberle has long been interested in the activities of the Toastmistress Club and was instrumental in the formation of the University of Missouri Toastmistress Club at Columbia, Mo.

Mrs. Haeberle has long felt that girls need not only precise knowledge of parliamentary procedure but also to develop poise, diction, and polish in the use of these rules so that they may be better able to administer meetings efficiently.

She expressed the hope that the students of MacMurray, through their department of English, may be able to complete the organization of the local unit of the Toastmistress Club.

Mrs. Haeberle operates a parliamentary research club of 35 members in 14 states. She has been a nounced that Dale W. Smith of Barry, coach and teacher in the Barry schools the past year, has been employed as coach and teacher in the junior high school of this city, beginning with the fall term of school. Mr. Smith is a native of Barry and a graduate of the Western Illinois State Teacher's College in 1954.

Junior-Senior Prom At Pittsfield Has New Feature

PITTSFIELD—The annual Junior-Senior Prom was held at the Legion Hall on Friday night. The theme this year was "Garden in the rain" and the hall was appropriately and beautifully decorated in garden scenes by the juniors with members of the two classes resplendant in their formal dresses, presenting a lovely picture.

The Queen, Ina Strother, had as her attendants Norma Jones and Connie Shu. The two had tied in the vote for attendants and both served. The crowning of the Queen was followed by the grand march with music by the Yachtmen of Beards-town.

Something new for the evening was made possible this year through the cooperation of the student council, the parents and various service organizations of the city. After the dance and a change from their formal, the honorees re-assembled at the Clark Theater where they enjoyed a free movie, "Knock On Wood." Following the movie at the break of dawn, a breakfast was prepared for them in the hot lunch room of the south school by mothers of the two classes. Breakfast consisted of bacon and eggs, toast, waffles and sausage etc. All agreed that the event was an unusually enjoyable departure from the routine program for their big night.

Juniors and seniors from the high school of Pearl and Nebo were guests of the evening.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinds, of Baylis, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to A-3c Loren Hill, son of Walter Hill of Peoria, a former resident of the Baylis community. Patricia Hinds is a member of the graduating class of the Pittsfield high school this spring.

HOSPITAL WEEK IS HERE!

The Nation Pays Tribute To Our Hospitals May 8 Through May 14

BECAUSE . . .

- ★ Hospitals are important in our lives.
- ★ Most of us begin and end life in a hospital.
- ★ Hospitals stand by fully staffed and equipped to serve twenty-four hours a day year in and year out.
- ★ Hospitals are the health centers of a community.
- ★ Hospitals are an educational facility for those who dedicate their lives to the professional care of the sick.
- ★ Hospitals have helped life expectancy to reach an all-time high.

Jacksonville people and those of the Area recognize that hospitals are an essential part of their health security. Their civic action is the proof.

DOLLARS—hundreds of thousands of dollars—pledged to Passavant Memorial and Our Saviour's Hospitals carry the "Touch of Life."

Probably no other philanthropy exhibits as dramatically the lasting working power of a dollar as does a gift to a hospital. The more it is used the greater its value.

NEVERTHELESS—The hospital management is aware it has required varying degrees of sacrifice to give a "conscience share."

To all who have contributed gifts and service to the Building Fund, or helped Our Saviour's Hospital in other ways, The Sisters of the Holy Cross say "THANK YOU" with a deep sense of heartfelt gratitude.

On this occasion of Hospital Week 1955, let us in Jacksonville and the Area resolve to continue to work together for "QUALITY COMMUNITY HEALTH SERVICE."

Boys 8 Through 13 May Attend Summer Camp

Jacksonville and Morgan county boys will again this year have the privilege of attending summer camp. Warren Flower, local YMCA secretary, spoke Friday to boys in six grade schools in the city. In addition to explaining to the boys about Camp Piassa, located in the Marquette Park area not far from Alton, there will be a meeting for the parents at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 10, at the Youth Center. At this time Mr. Flower will answer any question parents have, explain more fully the minimum cost to the boys, and list what is expected of each prospective camper.

The camp week allotted to Jacksonville and Morgan county youth's up to a limit of fifty boys, is from June 12 to June 18. If there is a demand and available vacancies boys may be able to stay additional weeks following June 18.

Camp Piassa is for boys 8 to 13 years of age and offers swimming, hiking, games, archery, campfire, overnight camping, outdoor cooking, crafts and nature lore. Swimming is one of the outstanding features of Camp Piassa. They have one of the finest swimming pools in this part of the country. The water is tested regularly by the State Board of Health and adequate safety measures are always taken. Competent waterfront men will work under immediate supervision of the waterfront director.

Each camper must have a thorough physical examination before being admitted to camp. Every day each boy's health is checked at the camp and adequate sleep and rest periods are enforced. Every possible safety precaution is taken and a registered nurse is present at all times.

Entry blanks were left at all schools by Mr. Flower but should an interested boy have been missed or a parent seeks more information there are most welcome to attend the public meeting Tuesday evening, May 10, at the Youth Center. A soap sale is conducted each year before the camping period to enable boys to earn spending money and possibly there entire camp expense. The soap is furnished by the YMCA the details of which will also be explained Tuesday evening by Mr. Flower.

Traffic Magazine Features Career Of Wm. J. Curtis

The April issue of the Traffic World, a transportation and traffic news magazine, contains an article about a Jacksonville man, William Jean Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean P. Curtis of 760 South Church street.

William Curtis is director of traffic for the Admiral corporation, manufacturers of television sets.

He started his career with the Admiral corporation in Chicago in 1946 and several months ago was appointed to the office of director of traffic, the first man to hold this office.

Curtis, still in his thirties, was born and grew up in Jacksonville. After graduating from Jacksonville High School he enrolled in Hardin-Brown's Business college and finished that school's business administration course a year later. He then went to work for J. Capps & Sons while waiting a civil service appointment for which he had taken an examination. He received an appointment as a clerk in the Adjutant General's office of the United States Army in March 1941, and went to Washington.

Nine months later he volunteered in the army but was rejected because of physical reasons. He then left government service and took a position with the Pere Marquette railroad as a passenger representative. In 1944 he was made city passenger agent for the railroad at Chicago. He studied nights at Northwestern University specializing in transportation.

Toward the end of 1944 he accepted a position with the Admiral Corporation.

Curtis immediately discovered that the Admiral corporation needed a traffic department. In 1946 the traffic department was organized and during the past nine years the department has been thoroughly organized and is one of the outstanding traffic departments in American industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis live in a modern home in Elmhurst, western Chicago suburb.

He is a member of the Traffic Club of Chicago, the Chicago Transportation Club, West Towns Traffic Club and the Chicago Passenger Club.

Corn Planting Time-Time To Check Quotas

With corn planting near, farmers should give careful thought to their cropping plans from the standpoint of the 1955 corn allotment program, says Charles R. Gibson, chairman of the local ASC committee.

Some time ago, continued Gibson, producers on all known corn farms were issued official allotment notices. Only those farmers who comply with such allotments will be eligible for price support. It is therefore suggested that these notices be carefully checked for correctness and farm identity because any mistakes which are made now may affect this year's income. The price support rate for the county has not yet been announced but the minimum national support has been set at $1.58 per bushel, which is but four cents less than for 1954.

Any producer who is interested in the corn crop on more than one farm either as owner or operator should be extremely cautious because the corn acreage on one farm may affect his eligibility on all farms. In order to be eligible for price support on any given farm, the total corn acreage on all farms in the commercial area in which the producer is interested must be within the total of the allotments for all such farms. Even though this total requirement is met, eligibility will apply only to those farms on which there is compliance with the specific farm allotment.

"Rather complicated situations often arise when a producer has a single interest in one farm and then is involved, along with other parties, or as a part of an unsettled estate, legal partnership or business enterprise, etc., on another farm. Full details on these types of cases may be obtained at our office, Gibson said.

"It is our further advice that farmers who desire to cooperate should try to make certain that their original plantings are made within the allotment. However, in the event some error is made there is opportunity this year to reduce the acreage down to the allotment, provided such acreage is plowed or disked under, or is totally destroyed by causes beyond the farmer's control and provided, too, that this takes place by August 1. Any situation of this nature should immediately be called to our attention. A second inspection will be required in such cases and a nominal fee will be charged. Farmers should recognize, too, that for purposes of future programs, full credit will be given if the corn acreage is within 90 percent of the allotment.

"In view of this special reduction privilege," continued the chairman, "every endeavor will be made to check farm acreages at an early date. To accomplish this big job, the full cooperation of all farmers will be required. We urge this cooperation and ask that someone be available to assist our reporter when he calls at the farm to determine the corn acreage. This we are certain, will be to the advantage of farmers as well as to us."

While they were dancing down from the deck into the dimly lighted ballroom were greeted with a spectacular picture as they began the grand march to the strains of music provided by Boots Brennan. One thing was sure, the Routt Junior class of 1933 attained its coveted goal May 6th when they converted Formaz Hall into the motif of a Cape Cod Schooner.

The spectators' attention focused on the center ship scene with its accompanying transparent sky, misty clouds, flying sea gulls, tropical palm trees and blue-gray breakers. The towering blue, white, and gold lighthouses sparkled realistically as their mossy vines entwined in their silver dustiness. Soft blue and green blinkers shining from the towers threw enchanting shadows over the gala dancing couples.

The beams of a sparkling light played upon a statue of Mary, Protectress of the Sea, as she towered high in her azure blue throne banked high with baskets of fresh flowers.

At the north end of the ballroom, the pilot's wheel, anchor and admiral's cap carried out the nautical theme.

At intermission there was a program featuring the Junior and Senior classes singing their class song. Jerry Regan, Junior class president, read from miniature souvenir sailboats, the prophecies of the departing seniors. Dick Lewis, the Senior class president, read the class will.

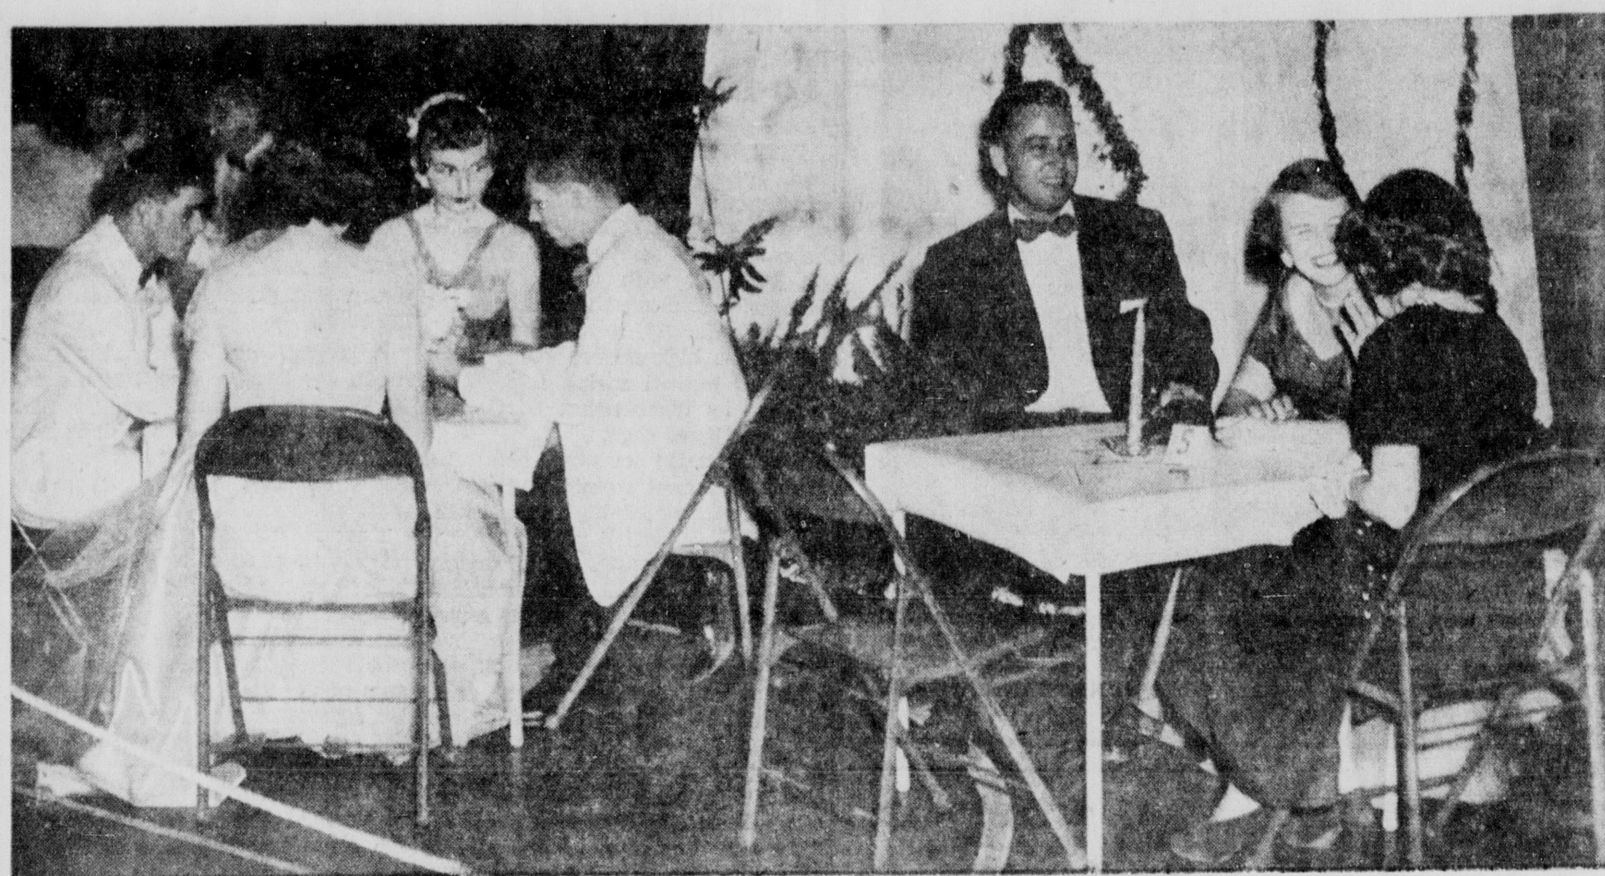

Janet Henry dances above with Jerry Lewis in the attractive adult atmosphere created for the school dance of the year, Junior-Senior Prom.

Also dancing near the band Friday night were Jim Devore and Becky Wagner pictured above.

Karen Zell and Joe Shanahan were among the many couples taking advantage of the uncrowded dance floor.

PEO Chapter CY Has 25th Anniversary

In celebrating their 25th anniversary recently, Chapter P. E. O. paid tribute to the 14 women who on April 14, 1930 became its members. Of the original charter list, seven were already P. E. O.'s diverting from other chapters and seven were initiates. Only three are still active members of this chapter; Miss Anna Stevenson, Mrs. Vera Caldwell, and Miss Alida Alexander. Birthday greetings were received from another, Mrs. Jessie Jenks, and Mrs. Vera Scope of Springfield, also a charter member of CY, was a guest of the chapter.

During its quarter-century of life, Chapter CY has sponsored 21 girls for loans from the sisterhood's Educational Loan Fund and has been co-host to the convention of the Illinois State Chapter twice, once in Jacksonville and once in Springfield. In addition to supporting such P. E. O. projects as Cottee College and the Illinois P. E. O. Home, it has spent much time and effort in gathering information and mementos concerning the history of Old Chapter C which was the third chapter of P. E. O. and was organized at the Jacksonville Female Academy in 1871, and of Old Chapter L which was organized at the same school some years later.

Chapter CY is proud to have counted among the 90 women who have been its members, two outstanding records of membership. Mrs. Emma Thomas, who was a member of this chapter at the time of her death in 1952, had been a P. E. O. for 66 years, and Miss Elsie John Traube, one of the charter members, was initiated in Old Chapter C in 1871 and continued in active membership in the sisterhood until her death in 1947, a total of 76 years.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market suffered another of its periodic sinking spells this week but managed a good partial recovery.

The market ended the week lower than it started, but not much lower. It was unchanged on its opening day, dropped sharply the second day, and then recovered in three straight sessions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 50 cents on the week and closed Friday at $164.30. At that level the average is only $2.50 away from its record high established last week.

With prices at such peaks, brokers have been voicing warnings against sudden gusts of selling based on weakness. They feel that continued sharp selling waves with out a show of recovery could shake investor confidence in the market. These flurries, however, in every instance have been absorbed and forgotten.

Aircrafts were prominent on the selling side Monday and Tuesday. Talk of peace in the far east did nothing to encourage buying of stocks of companies making war planes. This weakness in the aircrafts had an unsettling effect on the rest of the market.

However, when prices got down to levels where resistance to the decline had been anticipated, buying showed up on schedule and bolstered the market. Such an orthodox performance helped to spread confidence. By the end of the week, the aircrafts themselves were rising.

It was difficult to be bearish about the stock market when reports of booming business came from all sides. One major company after another brought in statements of record high first quarter profits. A cross section of the bulk of corporate reports so far made for the first quarter disclosed an increase of 27 per cent over a year ago.

Dividends, too, were well sustained as compared with a year ago, and high prices of stocks in the final analysis depend on high dividends.

Personal income in March was at a record annual rate of more than 294 billion dollars. Steel production this week was estimated at a record high level. April construction was the highest ever for that month. And there were plenty of other but less embracing reports on good business.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—A two way trend developed in the hog market this week. Barrows and gilts gained 25 to 50 cents but sows ended around 25 cents lower.

The advance in butcher hogs was attributed to an upturn in some wholesale pork prices and to a broad demand for hogs on shipping account. Order buyers purchased approximately 12,000 head. Wholesale pork closed the week steady to $5.00 higher.

Cattle receipts fell off 20 per cent from the previous week and 10 per cent from the comparative 1954 week. While steers were mainly steady to 50 cents lower, a few in the lower half of the choice grade sold steady to 25 cents higher. Top on steers was $28.25, lowest since early September, 1954.

Lambs sold $1.00 to $1.50 for the week while sheep sold steady to weak. Trading was slow. Main bearish factor was a sharp reduction in shipping demand. This resulted from a drop in wholesale lamb prices at New York, where dressed carcasses lost $4.00 to $5.00.

CHICAGO (AP)—USDA — Salable hogs 200, barrows and gilts 25-50 higher; sows around 25 lower; sows comprised around 13 per cent of receipts, week's top 16.35; week's market most active in several weeks due largely to aggressive buying on outside account; at the close top stood at 18.00 for choice 190-210 lb. weights with bulk 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts at 17.00-17.15; choice 250-280 lb. butchers closed at 16.50-17.00.

Salable cattle 300. Steers mainly steady to 50 lower except those in the lower half of the choice grade steady to 25 higher; heifers and cows about steady; bulls 50-75 lower; vealers 1.00-2.00 higher; stockers and feeders steady to 50 lower; most choice and prime fed steers 22.75-27.50; numerous loads mixed choice and prime grades 25.00-26.00; few prime steers 28.00 and 28.25; top 28.25; bulk good to low choice steers and yearlings 19.50-22.50 with good grades late down to 19.00; utility and commercial steers 15.00-18.00; bulk good to high choice heifers 19.50-23.50; bulk utility and commercial cows 12.00-15.50; bulk canners and cutters 10.25-12.50; late bulk utility and commercial bulls 14.00-15.50; most good and choice vealers late 23.00-28.00 with utility and commercial grades 13.00-22.00; good and choice yearling stock steers 21.00-24.00.

Salable sheep none; slaughter lambs unevenly 1.00-1.50 lower; most decline on weights around 110 lb. and heavier; slaughter sheep steady to weak; scattered loads and lots of good to choice wooled lambs weighing around 110 lbs. down 19.50-21.75 with the best arriving at mid-week being limited to 21.25; occasional sales wooled lambs around 115-130 lb. 17.00-18.25.

1955 WHEAT FUTURES GAIN MORE THAN SIX CENTS A WEEK

CHICAGO (AP)—Futures representing the 1955 wheat crop found themselves quite unexpectedly popular on the Board of Trade this week.

In their best display in many months these futures gained more than 6 cents in a series of brisk buying flurries. May wheat also advanced, although not quite as much as the new crop months.

Action of wheat had a soothing effect on the rest of the market. All other cereals posted gains, although they fell considerably short of the upturn in wheat.

Wheat closed the week 5 1/2-6 1/2 higher, corn 1/4-1 1/2 higher, oats 1/4 higher, rye 1/4 to 3 cents higher and soybeans 1/4 to 3 cents higher and hard 7 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher.

As a result of the upturn, new crop wheat finished about 10 cents above the seasonal lows set in mid-April. The upturn has come at a time when the new crop is approaching maturity and it appears the carryover of old crop wheat on July 1 will set a record.

What is behind the upturn? First of all it could well be that the new crop months had been oversold, at least temporarily. The government support price on this year's crop will be $2.06 a bushel on the farm, which figures out at about $2.40 at Chicago. At the start of this week all new crop futures were selling below $2.00.

Nevertheless, new crop wheat futures were selling under $2.00 a year ago when the government loan figured out at $2.58 a bushel at Chicago.

Second, this year's crop will be reduced substantially from last year. One reason for this is the smaller acreage. Another is the fact the crop has been cut by drought.

Step Up Drive Against Gambling In East St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Police Commissioner Russell T. Beebe today declared he's "more determined than ever" to continue his anti-gambling drive after his automobile was bombed early Saturday.

Terming it a "lay off" bomb, Beebe said "we're not going to let this bombing stop us at all." No one was injured in the blast.

He had his car moved from his home driveway to its usual parking place between city hall and the police station "so the public can see how these hoodlums operate."

Beebe led a raid on an alleged racing news service Wednesday and Friday added four more officers to the police department's gambling squad.

Later Saturday, however, St. Clair County Sheriff Leonard O. Reinhardt said he had led a squad of deputies into East St. Louis shortly before the bombing, and arrested eight tavern operators, all negroes.

"It's my duty," Sheriff Reinhardt said, "to go into any incorporated area where law enforcement has broken down."

Asked for comment on the sheriff's statement, Beebe said "these were little hole-in-the-wall taverns and games operated by fly-by-night operators."

He said the police department has had them under surveillance and has raided them in the past.

PHS To Announce Conclusions Today

Efforts to obtain further information from other agencies, including the White House, were unavailing. A Public Health Service spokesman said the recommendations to be released Sunday will be "detailed" and will be released all at once.

"The service feels," he said, "that it would be unfair and misleading to give fragmentary reports because the whole thing must be thought of in terms of the total picture."

Uncertainty over the voluntary inoculation program began in some quarters with the withdrawal 11 days ago of vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories in Berkeley, Calif., following reports that a number of children had contracted polio after receiving the vaccine.

A few cases of polio also have been reported among children receiving vaccine from other sources.

The latest count of post-inoculation cases is 49. Two deaths have been reported in Idaho and one each in Louisiana and Hawaii.

The PHS announced last Wednesday it had authorized five manufacturers of Salk vaccine to release a total of 10 1/2 million cubic centimeters since the vaccine was pronounced a success on April 12. One cubic centimeter is enough for one inoculation.

The PHS has temporarily withheld action on 4,280,000 additional cc's and announced Friday that no further batches would be cleared pending the outcome of the scientific review just completed.

Dr. Scheele told the House Banking Committee Friday that the number of polio cases reported was small in relation to the estimated four to six million children who have been vaccinated.

Dr. Salk said the occurrence of these cases made it necessary, however, to study all aspects of the situation "with the same care and precision as was followed in the large scale tests of the vaccine last year." The vaccine was rated up to 90 per cent effective in last year's field tests.

Medical opinion was divided as to what part if any the vaccine played in polio cases thus far reported. Dr. Carl Ecklund, chief of the virology section of the U.S. Public Health Service laboratory at Hamilton, Mont., said investigation of 10 cases among Idaho children "points strongly to vaccine as the cause." He said further tests would be needed before this could be determined definitely, however.

Dr. Cecil Reinstein, medical director of the South Central Idaho Public Health Department, said an 11th case in Idaho appeared similar to those reported on by Dr. Ecklund.

On the other hand, doctors in some areas reporting cases said they did not believe the vaccine was responsible.

$25,541,662 SPENT TO DEVELOP SALK POLIO VACCINE NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported Saturday it spent $25,541,662—about 15 cents per person in the nation—to develop the Salk polio vaccine.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director for the Foundation, said 18 million dollars went for tracking down the disease agents and converting them into a vaccine.

The rest was spent in field trials. Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the vaccine, received one million dollars to complete his final laboratory work before the trials began last spring, Van Riper said.

The foundation's outlay does not include money spent by the federal government or local health agencies in assisting with the testing.

No Wedding Bells For Zsa Zsa Gabor, Porfiro Rubirosa

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—There will be no wedding bells for the beautiful Zsa Zsa Gabor and international playboy Porfiro Rubirosa, Zsa Zsa's mother revealed today.

It is not that the love light has flickered and gone out. More mundane things like a profitable Hollywood career stand in the way of any nuptials, Mrs. Jolie Gabor said.

"She will be very big in Hollywood and in her television show," the Hungarian-born, practical minded mother said. "She would have to give that up. She would have to live in Paris if she married him. She likes to be in America—where her mother and sisters are and in Hollywood."

Also Zsa Zsa, who is in Cannes, France, has complained Rubirosa is jealous, Mrs. Gabor added.

Has Zsa Zsa told Rubirosa, who's heard "yes" from millionaires, that she's going to say "no"? "I don't think so," Mrs. Gabor said. "He's in Paris."

When Rubirosa was about to marry dime-fortune heiress Barbara Hutton, Zsa Zsa got national headlines by asserting it was a riotous romance and that Rubirosa had blacked her eye for rejecting him.

Rubirosa denied such unchivalrous conduct, and married Miss Hutton for a few weeks. His previous marriages include one to Doris Duke, tobacco fortune heiress.

Zsa Zsa and actor George Sanders were divorced recently.

Charge Skid Row Residents Fought Rescuing Firemen

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's jury was told Saturday that a number of intoxicated residents in Skid Row's latest hotel fire fought with firemen who were rescuing them.

"Instead of helping us, they fought us," testified Albert H. Petersen, chief fire marshal.

Nine men perished in the early morning fire Friday at the Comfort Hotel, 919 W. Madison St. Twelve other residents and one fireman were injured.

"I'm proud of the fire department for their alertness and efficiency—they saved many lives in this fire," Peterson said.

The blaze marked the fourth fire at inexpensive Chicago hotels in less than three months with a loss of 51 lives.

Mayor Richard J. Daley ordered a thorough study into the possibility of city condemnation of Skid Row hotels and construction of suitable living quarters for derelicts.

He also ordered a speed-up of inspections of flophouses by the fire, police, health and building departments.

Coroner Walter McCarran continued the inquest until Thursday and said he would call a "blue ribbon" jury to sift the facts.

McCarran also said he will go to Springfield soon to seek legislation designed to tighten fire precautions of hotels.

Soviet Cancels Friendship Treaty

MOSCOW (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet Saturday announced the British-Soviet friendship treaty of 1942 is canceled.

The Presidium acted on the basis of a recommendation from Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

It was done because Britain and France ratified the Paris agreement providing for rearmament of Western Germany, which the Soviet Union claims makes the friendship treaties ineffective.

CED Suggests Tax Reduction In '56

WASHINGTON (AP)—A business group which often reflects Eisenhower administration tax policies strongly suggested Saturday that taxes can be reduced next year by three to five billion dollars.

The Committee for Economic Development, in a 20-page report on federal tax issues, said first priority should go to a general income tax cut for everybody.

The CED added that the biggest percentage cuts should be given high income brackets, to provide added incentives for economic growth.

And if the expected reductions do turn out to be possible, the CED said, smaller cuts should be made in corporation income taxes, and in excise rates on liquor, tobacco and autos.

State Legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Preliminary but important decisions may be taken in the Illinois General Assembly during the coming week on the issues of judicial reform and raising the state sales tax.

Significant developments also appeared in prospect on the subjects of legislative reapportionment and toll roads.

The House executive committee has set a vote for Wednesday on the constitutional proposal for overhauling the state's court system.

On Friday, leaders of the Chicago and Illinois State Bar Assns. which originated the plan announced they will stand pat on their resolution in the face of demands by opponents for major changes.

Some lawmakers—both hostile to and sympathetic with the resolution—have predicted its defeat unless concessions are made. The resolution requires a two-thirds favorable vote in both House and Senate to get on the 1956 general election ballot.

Charge Skid Row Residents Fought Rescuing Firemen

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's jury was told Saturday that a number of intoxicated residents in Skid Row's latest hotel fire fought with firemen who were rescuing them.

"Instead of helping us, they fought us," testified Albert H. Petersen, chief fire marshal.

Nine men perished in the early morning fire Friday at the Comfort Hotel, 919 W. Madison St. Twelve other residents and one fireman were injured.

"I'm proud of the fire department for their alertness and efficiency—they saved many lives in this fire," Peterson said.

The blaze marked the fourth fire at inexpensive Chicago hotels in less than three months with a loss of 51 lives.

Mayor Richard J. Daley ordered a thorough study into the possibility of city condemnation of Skid Row hotels and construction of suitable living quarters for derelicts.

He also ordered a speed-up of inspections of flophouses by the fire, police, health and building departments.

Coroner Walter McCarran continued the inquest until Thursday and said he would call a "blue ribbon" jury to sift the facts.

McCarran also said he will go to Springfield soon to seek legislation designed to tighten fire precautions of hotels.

Berra's Double Gives Yanks 9-6 Win Over Red Sox

BOSTON (AP)—New York's Yogi Berra, most valuable player in the American League last year, broke up a tie game with a three-run double in the ninth inning Saturday for a 9-6 Yankee victory over the Boston Red Sox on Hall of Fame Day at Fenway Park.

The catcher's clutch blow, off relief specialist Ellis Kinder, rattled off the left field wall with the bases loaded.

Kinder came in after Tom Morgan and Hank Bauer had singled and he walked Joe Collins to load the bases. After Mickey Mantle filed out to left Berra connected and when catcher Sammy White dropped Lepcio's relay to the plate Collins followed Morgan and Bauer across.

Mantle and Elston Howard, rookie Negro outfielder-catcher, had homered earlier for the winners. Howard, now batting .500, drove in two runs with his homer and single—hitting 4 for 6 for the day.

It was a typical game of strategy by New York manager Casey Stengel who used 20 players, including six pitchers in his bid for victory before 29,925.

A double by Vic Wertz and singles by Wynn, Al Smith and Bobby Avila produced three more Indian runs in the fourth.

Hank Majeski's double, walks to Kiner and Pope and an infield out by Hegan brought in the last two Cleveland tallies in the seventh.

Jim Finigan homered for the A's in the eighth. The losers got their other two runs in the third on a hunt by Spook Jacobs, singles by Bill Renna and Finigan and a fly by Gus Zernial.

Suggest Johnson Was Not Drugged

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A well posted source who declined to be named said Saturday that boxer Harold Johnson was not drugged but that he may have become dizzy from nose drops he used shortly before Friday night's nationally televised fight.

Johnson collapsed after the second round and Cuban Heavyweight Julio Mederos was awarded a technical knockout victory.

As Johnson was carried out on a stretcher and taken to Hahnemann Hospital—where he is under 24-hour police guard now—investigators were begun by the state athletic commission and the police.

The source disclosed that blood, spinal fluid, stomach and urine tests on Johnson all were negative—that organizationally the 26-year-old Philadelphia negro, the No. 1 light heavyweight title contender, was Okay.

JIMMIE LYNCH DEATH DODGERS HERE MAY 17

Officials of the Lions Club announced today that one of the top attractions of the entertainment and thrill world will be at the Jacksonville Fairgrounds on Tuesday night, May 17.

The world famous Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers, the nation's oldest and most popular automobile thrill show, will be on hand in front of the grandstand to entertain racing fans.

The Death Dodgers are known from coast to coast. Featured in numerous magazines, on television, and in the movies, the famous aggregation is made up of the nation's outstanding array of stuntmen.

Again, as every year, the organization will use all new automobiles, with a new fleet of 1935 automobiles already on hand. The Jimmie Lynch show got the jump on the field, by appearing at the big Florida State Fair this February.

The Death Dodgers, will again feature as one of its performers, Miss Patricia Jones, who is the nation's only girl stunt driver. Miss Jones is starting her third year with the veteran organization.

Showtime for the Death Dodgers at the Fairgrounds is 8:00 P.M. (C.S.T.). Advance tickets can be purchased from any Lions Club member at a reduced price.

Thurman's Homer Gives Reds 8-7 Nip Of Cubs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Pinch hitter Bob Thurman slugged a three-run homer in the eighth inning to give the Cincinnati Redlegs an 8-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday. It was the second time that Thurman had come through with a homer in a pinch hitting role this season.

Thurman's blast landed in the empty right field bleachers. Most of the bleacher fans and other customers had left during an hour and 30 minute rain storm which halted the contest in the seventh frame.

Wally Post also homered for the Redlegs, while Cubs' Bob Speake, Harry Chitt, and Lee Fondy hit round trippers.

Art Fowler started for the Reds, but was knocked out in the sixth inning when the Cubs exploded for five runs.

Corky Valentine and Bob Hooper followed Fowler to the mound, with Rudy Minarcin getting credit for the win when he entered the contest in the seventh. Jacki Collum finished for the Redlegs.

Earl Setser Captures Opening Stock Car Feature; Stands Full

Before a jam-packed crowd of some 5000 roaring fans the Morgan County Fairgrounds stock car program for 1935 got under way Friday night. Jacksonville's Earl Setser, driving the number 822, came through in fine fashion to take the feature race. Bill Griffith came in second with Dick Vance capturing third place money.

Sonny Gross, driving a new car, showed the local fans he will be hard to beat this coming season by setting a new track record in the time trials. However, he had transmission trouble later and was put out of the money races.

15-Mile An Hour Wind Spoils Santee's Bid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Wes Santee's latest attempt to run America's first 4-minute mile was spoiled Saturday by a 15-mile an hour wind blowing the length of the track during the University of Miami's Invitational Mile Run.

The lean Kansas cowboy, who says he is bothered badly by any wind over five miles an hour, was clocked at 4:07 in winning the race by a dire margin over his former Kansas teammate, Art Dazell, and five other runners.

"The wind made the going tough," Santee said. "Maybe it's just psychological but it sure slows me up." Santee said the surface of the track, which had been oiled and carefully steamrollered for his run, broke down on the back stretch. As a result, he said, "I seemed to lose a lot of my kick on the third lap." The time was well off his best time of 4:00.5, which set a new American record at the recent Texas relays.

Bettors 440 High School Mark

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Eddie Southern of Dallas' Sunset High School bettered the national scholastic record for the 440-yard dash for the second day in a row Saturday as he ripped off a time of 47.2 seconds.

Southern Friday ran the event in 47.4 in preliminaries of the Texas schoolboy meet. It bettered the national record of 48.0 set in 1948 by Gene Cole, Lancaster, Ohio.

Average Texas Millionaire Took $5,000 To Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The average Texas millionaire brought $5,000 pocket money to the Kentucky Derby.

Unless the horses are unkind to him, the cash will adequately cover his three or four days in Louisville.

If he bets too often on slow horses, he will wire home for another two, three, four or five g's. An authority for the Texas oilman's Derby spending behavior, is Chester Wynne of Tyler, who says his approximately 500 wells return him 1 1/2 to 2 million dollars a year.

Wynne was one of an impressive collection of fabulously well-to-do Texans who gathered at a hotel party promoted by Dick Andrade of Dallas. Andrade reputedly has done well in oil, too.

The party's trimmings included a Dixieland jazz band from New Orleans, imported with Texas money to play the one engagement.

Wynne, a pleasant middle-aged man, said millions such as himself eat well and sleep in the best accommodations. They entertain and accept entertainment, and bet "sensibly" on the horses—maybe $1,000 if the horse looks especially good. Some bet much more and others are more cautious.

Wynne flew to Louisville in his own plane, bringing Mrs. Wynne and a guest, Mrs. George W. Pirtle. Mrs. Pirtle's husband is a geologist—termed by Wynne "the best in the business."

Wynne has a four-room suite in one of Louisville's leading hotels. The three bedrooms and parlor will cost him $1,000 for Wednesday through Sunday.

"Sure, it's a little steep," he said. "But I'm satisfied. I'm not complaining."

Jaycee's Annual Junior Olympics This Thursday

The Jaycees annual junior olympics will be held this Thursday, May 12, at the Jacksonville High School athletic field. The track and field meet will get under way at 3:30.

Warren Hudson and Harry Lisee are co-chairmen of this year's project for all children of age eight through twelve. However, no one can participate if they are at the present in the seventh grade, even though they may only be 12.

There will be nine schools taking part in the program. They include Lincoln, North and South Jacksonville, Luthern and Our Saviors.

The winning school traveling trophy, now held by South Jacksonville, will be awarded the winner. Everyone is invited to attend.

Wood Phillips and Bob Munk, local golf professionals, will be in charge of the instructions. Jim Buckley, Floyd Craft and other amateurs have indicated they will assist with the program.

The program will include the following:

1. Fundamentals of the game.
2. Instructions.
3. Emphasis on golf etiquette.
4. Rules of the game.
5. Films on golf.
6. Fair play and sportsmanship.
7. Tournament for each age group at the end of the instructions.
8. Leading players to participate in Central Illinois Junior Tourney at Springfield.

All adults who have old clubs are asked to contact the local professionals or Jim Buckley or Floyd Craft. Old clubs will be needed, as some will have to be cut down to fit some of the youngsters.

More details of the program will be announced later.

Elks Boys' League Baseball

Buckley also announced yesterday the Elks Club will also carry on their summer baseball program as they did last year. Paul Blakeman will be in charge of the program and the only change is in the name. The program will go under the title of Elks Boys' League instead of last year's Little League title.

The age group for these boys will be 8 to 12 inclusive. Registration will be held at the diamond on South Diamond and West Morton Saturday, May 21. First scheduled twilight game will be played on June 6 following a week of practice sessions starting May 31 and running through June 3.

All boys whose eighth birthday occurs before August 1, 1955 and their thirteenth birthday does not fall after August 1 of this year are eligible to participate in the program. The Elks Club will furnish baseballs, bats, catching equipment, bases and uniforms for the two advanced leagues.

2nd Annual Big 10 Relays Held At Northwestern Sat.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The second annual Big Ten relays, a tuneup for the conference outdoor championship meet at Ohio State late this month, will be held at Northwestern next Saturday.

Competition will be in six relay events—the 440, 880, two mile one mile, distance medley and sprint medley—as well as five track and five field tests.

The field events are the broad jump, pole vault, discus throw, shot put and high jump. The 100 yard dash, a new addition to the meet, will feature Northwestern's Jim Golliday who celebrated his return from military service by taking the century in the Drake relays.

Other track competition will be a weight men's dash for shot put and discus contestants, a 1 1/2 mile run, and high and low hurdles.

Some of the most outstanding hurdlers ever produced in the Big Ten will meet in the high barriers—conference champion Willard Thomson of Illinois and teammate Abe Woodson; Les Stevens and Jack Matthews of Iowa; Joe Savoldi, Michigan State; Ken Toye, Northwestern, and Milt Campbell, Indiana.

Illinois, winner of three of the six relays last year, will defend only its sprint medley title. Minnesota will be favored in the 440 yard baton race after winning at the Drake relays with such crack sprinters as Harry Nash, Burris Carmichael, Bill Garner and Jack Dwyer.

Michigan will send teams into all six relays and will be a strong contender in the two mile and distance medley which it won last year. Key Wolverine runners are John Moule and Pete Gray, indoor mile and half mile champions, respectively.

Indiana, geared to Mike Cusick and Len Robinson, will be hard to beat in the mile while Michigan State also looks strong in this event as well as the 880.

Kevan Gosper, British Empire 440 yard champion, will anchor the Spartans. Other crack middle distance runners for MSC are Ron Guess, Julius McCoy, Dave Hoke and Bob Brown.

Arnie Sowell Runs Quarter Mile In 45.4

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Arnie Sowell, University of Pittsburgh track star, ran one of the fastest quarter miles in the history of racing Saturday.

The 26-year-old junior ran his anchor 440 yards in the mile relay in 45.4.

The world record for 440 yards is Herb McKenley's 46 seconds flat set at Berkeley, Calif., in 1948.

Sowell's performance will not replace McKenley's because split times in relays are unofficial. One reason for this is that relay runners have the benefit of a flying start.

The brilliant quarter not only enabled Pitt to make up almost 12 yards on Ohio State and win by another eight yards but enabled the Panthers to set a new Pitt Stadium mile relay record of 3:16.

Northwestern, Wisconsin Split

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern and Wisconsin split a Big Ten baseball doubleheader Saturday with the Wildcats taking the opener 4-1 behind the pitching and hitting of Dale Pienta and Wisconsin easing to a 9-2 triumph in the nightcap.

Pienta, who hit a three-run homer in Northwestern's four-run fourth, held Wisconsin to four hits but failed to finish. He gave way to Mark Engdahl in the eighth after walking three men.

Wisconsin unloaded 11 hits against three Northwestern pitchers in winning the second game. The Badgers iced the contest in the seventh inning with a four-run rally featured by a two-run double off the bat of Gus Zinotta and a two-run single by Jim Schultz.

43-YEAR-OLD AIR FORCE COACH DIES

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—M. Sgt. John E. Laney, 43, head coach of basketball at Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., since 1951, died Saturday of a heart attack while on his way to the University of Oklahoma to attend an Air Force special services sports conference.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

The man from Ranger, Texas, outlined a program for athletes to follow if they have the desire to go beyond the "realm of the ordinary." University of Illinois' end coach Bob King, a coach for 17 years and Illinois' coach for eight years, spoke before members of the ISD athletic teams, faculty members and guests at the annual ISD athletic banquet held last night.

King, who was an all-southern end at Furman University in 1936 told the boys that above all, if they are to be better than the average, they must have ability, must be competitors, have respect for authority and have character. He drew quite a chuckle from the crowd when he pointed out that before last year he thought he could make a great football player, but last season he found out differently. (Illinois finished last in the Big Ten)

Former Illinois great Dike Eddle was listed by King as the athlete with the greatest respect for authority of any performer at the U. of I. during the past eight years. "Coaches don't appreciate a player telling them how to score touchdowns," was an example used by the end coach while discussing this phase of his talk. Although King's talk was short, we've got a feeling it carried a lot of weight with the kids as well as the older folks.

Idle gossip: George O'Donnell has a record of 2-1 for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League. The former Winchester performer has appeared several times in relief but his two wins came in games he started.

His twin brothers, Joe and Jim, are with Hannibal in the MOV league, a loop that started play two weeks ago. Also on the same team is Mel Engelbrecht, a former Chapin and IC athlete.

Jerry Barber is currently in third place among Ryder Cup point leaders. Only pros ahead of Barber are Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt.

If you've any old golf clubs hanging around how about turning them over to the Elks to be used by the kids during this summer's instructional program. If this idea of giving boys free lessons materializes, they will need clubs—any clubs—all kinds. (You've got one JF—we know).

Harper Fires 70, Keens Lead In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Chandler Harper breezed home with a safe par 70 Saturday and that kept him six strokes ahead in the $25,000 Colonial Invitational Golf Tourney.

The Chattanooga, Tenn., veteran of 21 years of making golf pay the bills had a three-round total of 204 and a blue chip hold on that $5,000 first prize check.

Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, was second with a 69 and a 210 total. Harry Todd of Dallas and Antonio Cerda of Buenos Aires were tied for third with 212 and right behind them at 214 were a couple of old pros, Ben Hogan of Fort Worth and Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill.

Harper dropped a stroke off his second round lead as a half dozen players found Colonial's 7,035 yards to their liking Saturday. His three round score was 69-65-70.

The 1950 PGA champion was one over par for the first nine holes, he birdied the next two and had a birdie on the 14th but lost this sub par advantage on the 15th and 16th when he needed extra putts.

Hogan had a 69 and said afterwards, "I'm just not sharp. I haven't played enough lately to be competitively sharp."

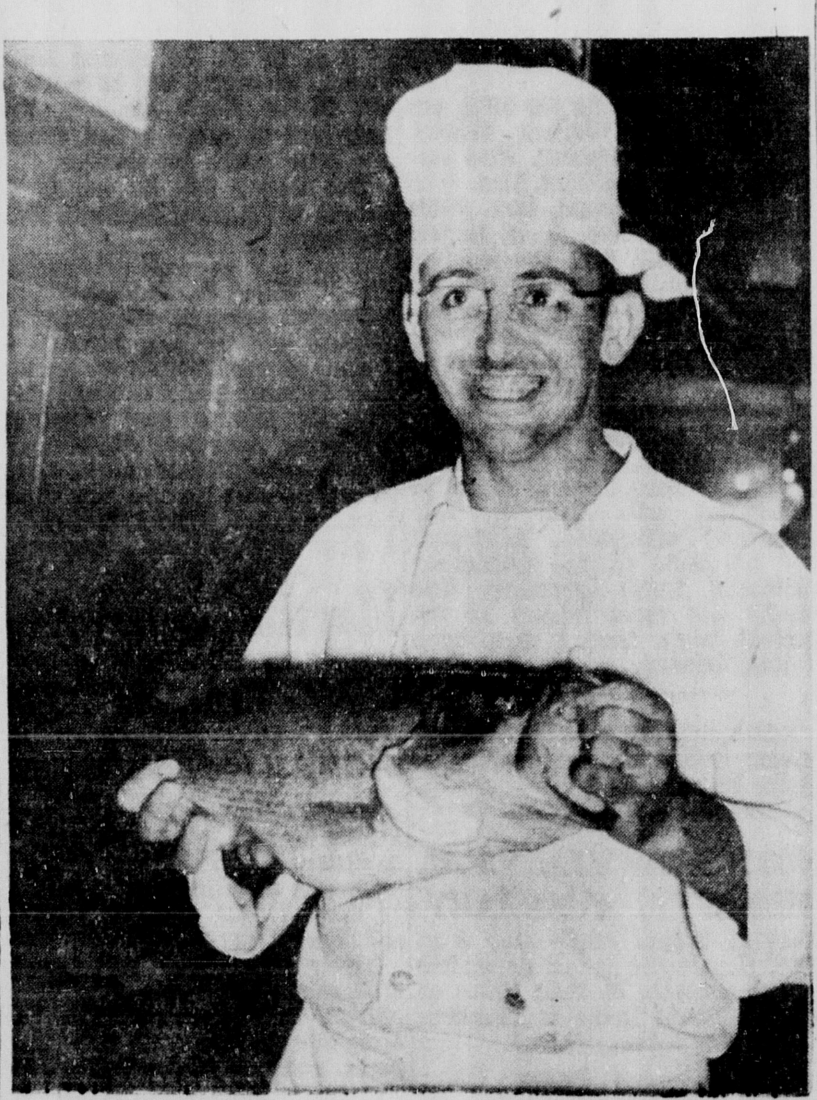

Illinois Spring Football Drills End With Game

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois ended its spring football drills Saturday with an intrasquad game in which halfback Harry Jefferson scored four touchdowns—two for each side—with the Blues beating the Whites 26-18.

Jefferson's first touchdown came on a 33-yard pass from Hiles Stout. He added another on a nine-yard run for the Blues before going to the Whites where he scored on 20 and 7 yard runs.

Other touchdowns were scored by halfback Mickey Bates on a 12-yard run, and Ron Hanson on a 47-yard pass from Chuck Schradre and Dean Renn on a 12-yard pass from Stout.

SKILLETWARD BOUND

BILL SMITH, assistant chef at the Dunlap hotel, beams as he holds a five and a quarter pound bass that he snagged from Lake Jacksonville last Wednesday afternoon.

The fish, 19 inches long, took issue with a K.B. spoon tossed in by Smith, and was brought to shore after a brisk battle.

Smith is an ardent fisherman. But this one is the largest he ever landed and he was still pretty excited about the whole affair when this photo was snapped a couple of hours later.

Illinois Spring Football Drills End With Game

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois ended its spring football drills Saturday with an intrasquad game in which halfback Harry Jefferson scored four touchdowns—two for each side—with the Blues beating the Whites 26-18.

Jefferson's first touchdown came on a 33-yard pass from Hiles Stout. He added another on a nine-yard run for the Blues before going to the Whites where he scored on 20 and 7 yard runs.

Other touchdowns were scored by halfback Mickey Bates on a 12-yard run, and Ron Hanson on a 47-yard pass from Chuck Schradre and Dean Renn on a 12-yard pass from Stout.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

The man from Ranger, Texas, outlined a program for athletes to follow if they have the desire to go beyond the "realm of the ordinary." University of Illinois' end coach Bob King, a coach for 17 years and Illinois' coach for eight years, spoke before members of the ISD athletic teams, faculty members and guests at the annual ISD athletic banquet held last night.

King, who was an all-southern end at Furman University in 1936 told the boys that above all, if they are to be better than the average, they must have ability, must be competitors, have respect for authority and have character. He drew quite a chuckle from the crowd when he pointed out that before last year he thought he could make a great football player, but last season he found out differently. (Illinois finished last in the Big Ten)

Former Illinois great Dike Eddle was listed by King as the athlete with the greatest respect for authority of any performer at the U. of I. during the past eight years. "Coaches don't appreciate a player telling them how to score touchdowns," was an example used by the end coach while discussing this phase of his talk. Although King's talk was short, we've got a feeling it carried a lot of weight with the kids as well as the older folks.

Idle gossip: George O'Donnell has a record of 2-1 for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League. The former Winchester performer has appeared several times in relief but his two wins came in games he started.

His twin brothers, Joe and Jim, are with Hannibal in the MOV league, a loop that started play two weeks ago. Also on the same team is Mel Engelbrecht, a former Chapin and IC athlete.

Jerry Barber is currently in third place among Ryder Cup point leaders. Only pros ahead of Barber are Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt.

If you've any old golf clubs hanging around how about turning them over to the Elks to be used by the kids during this summer's instructional program. If this idea of giving boys free lessons materializes, they will need clubs—any clubs—all kinds. (You've got one JF—we know).

The Jacksonville finals will be played Tuesday with the winner meeting the Pittsfield winner Friday, May 20.

The opening game at Pittsfield will be Friday, May 13 between Mt.

Winner's Owner Didn't Bet On His Horse

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One man, who didn't bet the Kentucky Derby winner was his owner, Rex S. Ellsworth.

He's not a gambling man. Neither does he smoke or drink.

The 47-year-old Californian, who once served three years as a Mormon missionary in South Africa, says his "whole life is bound up in my religious work and ranching."

A raiser of beef cattle and horses, he admitted that "you always look for a little competition. I get mine in ranching."

Illini, Indiana Split Twin Bill

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Baseball triples decided both games Saturday as Indiana and Illinois split a Big Ten doubleheader, Indiana winning, 8-1, and Illinois taking the second game, 6-2.

Chuck Mead cleared the bases in the first inning of the first game to give Indiana enough to win. Don Lukaszewski did the same thing for Illinois in the fourth inning of the second game. Marv Graves pitched a four-hitter for Illinois in the seven-inning second game, doubled in a run and stole home.

Jim Wilson Hurls, Oriole Defeat Nats 5-1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jim Wilson snapped Baltimore's four-game losing streak with five-hit pitching that enabled the Orioles to defeat Washington, 5-1. Baltimore dealt with veteran Johnny Schmitz his first loss after three victories with a 12-hit attack that included Hoot Evers' fourth home run.

Evers rammed his homer into the visitors' bullpen in left field in the first inning with none aboard. The Orioles increased their margin to 3-0 with two out in the fifth after Gil Coan walked, was trapped in a rundown but retreated safely to first base as second baseman Pete Runnels delayed a throw to first baseman Mickey Vernon too long.

Evers' single to center sent Coan to third, and Gus Triandos scored Coan with a single to left. Evers shifted to third on the hit and came across on Hal Smith's single to center.

The Senators scored in the sixth inning when Eddie Yost walked, raced to third on Ernie Oravetz's single to right and scored on Runnel's fly to Chick Diering in center.

Rules Horse's Insanity "Hidden Defect"

QUEBEC, (AP)—Farmer Edgar LaPlante said the mare horsestrader Valerian Roy sold him as sound in wind and body was crazy.

For one thing, she wouldn't back.

A veterinarian agreed the mare wasn't quite right in the head.

LaPlante wanted his money back.

A Superior Court held the sale valid on the ground Roy had not guaranteed the mare's sanity. But that finding toppled last weekend.

The Quebec Court of Appeals ruled insanity is "a hidden defect," annulled the sale and ordered Roy to return LaPlante's $207.

Rescue Teacher Trapped In Cave

CENTER, Ky. (AP)—A 45-year-old school principal, trapped for hours in the cave he was exploring with a young student, was rescued late Saturday.

Angelo Fanchier was taken to a Glasgow hospital where doctors said he had a broken back.

The student, Tommy Jeffries, 15, escaped earlier and notified police of Fanchier's plight.

All-Star Ducats Go In Mail Mon.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves announced Saturday that tickets to the all star baseball game here July 12 will begin going into the mail Monday.

Joseph Cairnes, executive vice president, said also that unfilled applications will be returned. He estimated it will take two weeks to get all of the tickets mailed out.

The Braves office put 30,000 tickets up for sale April 25 and Cairnes said enough mail applications, the only kind accepted, were postmarked the first day to claim all the tickets.

Dodgers Jar Phillies 6-3 For 9th In Row

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The red hot Brooklyn Dodgers won their ninth straight baseball game Saturday night with a 6-3 win over the hapless Philadelphia Phillies in a game marred by a shower of beer cans from disgruntled home fans.

The disorder, which nearly forced the Philadelphia club to forfeit the game, came in the seventh inning with Brooklyn already leading by what turned out to be the final score.

The Phil players, nursing an 8-game losing streak, started to ride home on a complaint signed by his ex-wife, Elizabeth Smith. He was released after posting $500 bond pending hearing in Municipal Court next Wednesday.

Moore, who said the arrest came as a surprise to him, termed the matter "a misunderstanding and nothing more. I am sure the matter will be cleared up right away."

He said he and his former wife had their marriage annulled 2 years ago.

Moore said he plans to leave for New York May 16 to start training for the June bout and sign the fight agreement, already arranged by his and Olson's manager through the International Boxing Club.

LUCKY 7 FOR DERBY WINNER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It was lucky seven Saturday for Swaps, the Kentucky Derby winner.

He carried No. 7 on his saddle cloth. The Derby was the seventh race on the seventh of the month. And to complete the chain Swaps paid $7.60 to win.

Robin Roberts, Phils' ace hurler, was knocked out in the fifth inning for his third defeat against three wins.

The loss, eighth in a row for the Phillies, drops them into last place in the league, a half game behind Cincinnati.

Brooklyn, which now has won 20 and lost only twice, is 9 full games ahead of the second place New York Giants.

Archie Moore Held On Charge Of Non-Support

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Light heavyweight Champion Archie Moore was arrested Saturday on a charge of non-support of his son, Archie Moore Jr., a child by his former wife.

Moore, who is scheduled to defend his title against Bobo Olson, middleweight champ, in New York's Polo Grounds June 22, was booked by his ex-wife, Elizabeth Smith. He was released after posting $500 bond pending hearing in Municipal Court next Wednesday.

Moore, who said the arrest came as a surprise to him, termed the matter "a misunderstanding and nothing more. I am sure the matter will be cleared up right away."

Moore said he plans to leave for New York May 16 to start training for the June bout and sign the fight agreement, already arranged by his and Olson's manager through the International Boxing Club.

The photograph above is a view of a typical meeting of the directors of the Morgan County Agricultural Fair association. It was taken last Monday night at the fairgrounds office.

The association was incorporated in 1947 and began rebuilding the plant soon after it was acquired from the State of Illinois. Many people can recall what a sad and sorry mess it was before association members contributed a lot of their time and money to the project.

The 30 man board is made up of men from all sections of Morgan County. They have a genuine interest in the promotion of wholesome youth activities here and work closely with the 4-H and F. F. A. committees of the county and adjacent areas.

This spring the grandstand has been strengthened and refurbished. Last year the water system was completed; this year a sewer system will be installed and a start will be made on a permanent electrical system. New buildings, particularly livestock barns, will be erected in accordance with the board's long-term building program and a start may be made on them this year.

Directors are elected to serve three terms and top officers rotate annually. They meet on the first Monday evening of each month.

This year's exhibit will be held the first four days of August. The office at the fairgrounds will be open and accepting entries around the middle of June.

Corn Hybrids Getting Better Every Season

How good are today's corn hybrids?

That's an important question to corn growers in Illinois, which now leads all other states in producing hybrid seed corn. For the past five years, Illinois has also led in per-acre corn yields.

Best way to answer the question, according to R. W. Jugenheimer, University of Illinois corn breeder, is to compare today's corn hybrids with those of 25 years ago.

By 1934, Jugenheimer reports, less than 10% of Illinois farmers were using hybrids. Between 1925 and 1934 corn yields for open-pollinated varieties averaged just under 34 bushels an acre, and it was only the best farmers who could make 50.

Open-pollinated varieties did not respond as well as hybrids to fertilizer, the scientist says. They usually didn't stand well enough to be harvested with mechanical pickers. They couldn't resist drought, disease and insects.

One-Third Better

In the 10 years after 1934, Illinois corn growers changed to hybrids. Yields during this period averaged 46 bushels an acre, about a third more than for the open-pollinated varieties. Hybrids responded to fertilizer and to thicker planting. They could fight drought and other hazards, and they stood until the picker got there.

Today's hybrids are better still, Jugenheimer says. In the past 10 years, average yields have increased another eight bushels to almost 53 bushels an acre, 19 bushels above the open-pollinated average.

Many are "has-beens". Another mark of the change is that most hybrids of 10 years ago can't meet the competition of today. Only 13 of the 147 hybrids certified in 1944 were certified again in 1954. The rest have been replaced by better ones.

The extra 19 bushels on each of the nine million corn acres in Illinois give the state an additional 171 million bushels of corn a year. This increase in per-acre yields has freed several million acres of good land for soybeans.

In spite of this progress, we're still not even in the race with population growth. It's going to take even better hybrids in the future, and Jugenheimer thinks we'll have them. "We've made more progress in agriculture during the past 30 years than was made in the 4,000 years before then," he says.

Neighbors Plow, Harrow 45 Acres On Sorrells Farm

Friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Marvin Sorrells, rural route 3, Jacksonville, Monday morning. They came with 17 tractors and long before noon they had completed plowing and harrowing 45 acres of ground.

Some of the men stayed for dinner at the Sorrells' home, but more of them found the plowing was going so well that they hurried home to tend to their own field work. Those who stayed for dinner later found that Claude Servoss had refueled their tractors.

Among those who participated were Dale Bourn, Eddie Furlong, Gerald Shumaker, Harold Cully, Allen Wegeloff, John Butler, Harold Long, Gerald Long, Vince Flynn, Rollin Martin, Bob Martin, Art Kershaw, Ted Kershaw, Paul Cox, Wendell Petefish, Lyle Moody and the Jacksonville Tractor & Eqt. Co.

This Week... At Dixon Springs

Hauling Pasture—How easy can sheep have it? While 60 ewes and 80 lambs are lolling in the cool of an open shed, Norris Phelps and Reece Wells, sheepmen at the Station, are chopping and hauling alfalfa pasture to them! But Norris isn't doing this for nothing; he hopes the lambs will fatten faster for profitable, early marketing. Part of the lambs are being creep-fed to hasten them along even faster. Reece reports that the first two days he chopped about 1,200 pounds of alfalfa a day. This feed is very high in water content (about 80 percent).

Cattle Marketed—When 112 cattle were marketed recently from Dixon Springs, a survey showed that Cattleman Roy Brush was delighted. Roy is now relieved of feeding. But it really shouldn't have been too bad; all but 36 head were self-fed a complete ration including ground alfalfa, ground ear corn, molasses and soybean oil meal. The best-doing steers were on the complete ration, pelleted. In 140 days of feeding, these steers gained an average of 2.74 pounds a day and sold for the highest price—$23.25. The closest lot to them on the same ration, not pelleted, gained an average of 2.54 pounds a day and sold for $22.00.

Excellent Soil Structure—"Pea-sized crumbs" is a term that is used to describe soil of good structure. According to reports of some of the boys who have been plowing pasture this spring, that is what they have been turning up. Some of the best structure was noted on the irrigation pasture, which is now being plowed and which has been very good for the past seven years. Such soils will absorb water more rapidly, erode less easily and permit better aeration and better root distribution of following crops. These things are good!

Rabies Vaccination—Dr. M. E. Mansfield, station veterinarian, is making his annual spring rounds vaccinating dogs against rabies. This is a service that Doc gives to dog owners of Station personnel as a protection to their families and to University livestock.

Lambs Doing Well on Fescue—Lambs at the Station have done very well on early fescue pastures, gaining about a pound per head per day while the ewes are holding their weight. As the fescue starts to head, lamb gains can be expected to drop off. It is at this time that we begin looking for legume pastures like Ladino, alfalfa, clover and so on.

Weldon Becker Named Star Farmer Of District No. 3

FFA district meeting was held Thursday evening at Virginia Weldon Becker of Jacksonville was named star farmer of district number 3.

In the FFA district public speaking contest held at Havana Friday evening Lee Clayberg, Cuba, was named "Wasteland or Farmland" as the subject of his talk. James Williamson of Jacksonville was second with "Conservation Through Cooperation" as his topic. Richard Jackson, Springfield, third spoke on "Grassland Farming."

Area's Herds The Best At State Fair Of 1855

MORGAN COUNTY—It is a subject of mortification and regret to the editor that from this most fertile and beautiful interior county of the state, with so many fine flocks and noble herds and farms of worldwide renown, the extracts below should constitute the only "report."

So lamented the editor of the Transactions of the Illinois Agricultural association just a hundred years ago when he was compiling accounts of the various county fairs held in Illinois.

The editor scolded the "extracts" from Prairie Farmer magazine. The item read:

"The Morgan County Agricultural society was organized Sept. 6, 1851. The first fair was held at Jacksonville, the 22d and 23d days of October, A. D., 1851. The officers of said society were duly elected on the 12th day of April, each year, respectively, to the present time.

"The present incumbents are—President, William Brown; vice presidents, S. M. Rannels and Silas Mastie; treasurer, James Green; secretary, Irvin Dunlap. Directors—Ransom VanWinkle, More Goltz, J. T. Newman, William Kinman, William Richardson, H. P. Fitch, Theodore Stout, William Dewese, Samuel Markoe and William C. Stephenson.

The next fair is to be held Sept. 16-19, 1856, and is open to the state.

Winners at Chicago
But if ye ed couldn't learn anything about the Morgan County fair of 1856 he did print the premium list of the state fair held in Chicago during October of that year. And judging from it the 1855 fair in Morgan must have been a lull.

For the livestock men of this area really mopped up in Chicago. In the Shorthorn cattle class, for example, herdsmen from Scott, Morgan, Greene, Pike and Sangamon counties won $318 of the $528 offered. Two Thoroughbred horse breeders from Jacksonville took all the blue, red and white ribbons. And E. B. Hitt of Exeter had the grand-champion jack. His name was Charley; he won the purple ribbon and $12.

Here are some "excerpts" from the Shorthorn cattle premium list: Best bull, two years old: Sir Warrior, Stephen Dunlap, Jacksonville, first; Lexington, Elton Eldred, Carrollton, second; Sir Worthy, E. B. Hitt, Exeter, third. Best cow: Bracelet, James N. Brown, Berlin, first; Annette, J. D. Smith, Berlin, second; Matilda, Stephen Dunlap, Jacksonville, third. Best heifer: Grace, James N. Brown, Berlin, first; E. B. Hitt, Exeter, second and third, with Bourbon and Isabel.

Best 10 calves: James N. Brown, first, diploma and $60; Stephen Dunlap, second, diploma and $40.

Superior Horses
W. W. Morton and Stephen White, both of Jacksonville, had everything their own way in the Thoroughbred horse class. Morton had the best brood mare, the best filly, the best mare colt and the best suckling colt; he also had the best brood mare.

It appears that this area didn't take any hogs to the Chicago fair. Maybe they were afraid of those deluxe Berkshire-Cumberland-Ireland crosses imported and raised by the celebrated W. F. Army of Bloomington. Anyway, Army won practically all the premiums.

Best Oats, Etc.
In the grain department Austin Rockwell of Jacksonville had the best peck of oats, and he also won first with a plate of six unnamed seedling peaches, a total of $6. J. R. will be made on a permanent electrical system. New buildings, particularly livestock barns, will be erected in accordance with the board's long-term building program and a start may be made on them this year.

Thomas of Waverly had the best display of "Indian corn—different varieties" and he won $3.

Miss Susan W. Henderson of Jacksonville won first with a pair of mittens; Mary Brown and Anna Brown of Jacksonville won a total of $14 for "needlework, evidence of taste and skill, by girls under 14. And the Jacksonville Institute for the Blind won $5 for "case brushes and fancy work." John Eitch of Carrollton won a diploma for the "best pair of hose, factory built."

John Deere of Moline showed the best plow and second place was won by William Parlin of Canton. These placings headed both men into the millionaire class.

G. W. Brown of Galesburg had the best horse-drawn corn planter on the grounds and a hedge clipped manufactured by E. & C. H. Dawson of Jacksonville was awarded a medal.

Yep, the 1855 Morgan County fair must have been something. But we'll have a better one this year, come the first four days of August.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

FEED SUPPLIES ARE STILL ACCUMULATING

Corn is the highest profit crop for most Illinois farms. Many farmers are cutting down on this crop in order to get price-support loans next fall, but the supply of feed continues to pile up.

There are two reasons why supplies of corn and other feeds are building up: (1) cotton and wheat growers have shifted to feed crops, and (2) the price-support program for corn sometimes restricts domestic uses and exports.

Corn Use Cut. The use of corn is sometimes restricted by the price-support program. For example, in 1952 and 1953, feeding to hogs was reduced when corn prices did not come down with hog prices. This year other feed grains are being substituted for corn.

The carry-over of feed grains last fall was 32 million tons—57 per cent more than two years before. The carry-over this year seems likely to reach 34 million tons, a new record high. And more feed grains will probably be produced this year than were produced last year.

With average weather, we are likely to produce around 125 million tons of feed grains this year. Such production would exceed that of last year by 3 per cent and would be second only to the record output of 135 million tons in 1948.

More Land To Feed Grains. In March farmers intended to plant about the same acreage of corn as they planted in 1954. But average weather across the country would produce about 175 million bushels more than last year's total.

Farmers have reported intentions to seed one per cent more land to oats than they seeded in 1954. But average yields would reduce the crop by 140 million bushels.

The prospective acreage of sorghum grains is 7 per cent over last year and 50 per cent above the 10-year average. The 1955 crop of sorghum grains is likely to be around 240 million bushels—17 per cent more than last year and 80 per cent above the 10-year average. Texas and Kansas rank one-two in the production of sorghum grain. Other cotton and wheat states have also stepped up their acreages of sorghum grain. This crop competes with corn not only in our feed troughs, but also in export markets.

Farmers plan to seed nearly 18 million acres to barley this year. That number would be 9 per cent more than last year and 35 per cent more than average.

The big-acreage crops with price-support production control programs are corn, wheat, and cotton. It appears that when wheat and cotton growers cut acreages of these crops, they grow more feed to compete with corn. But the corn grower cannot so easily switch to wheat or cotton. It looks as if the corn grower is pulling on the short end of the doubletree.

Concord School Children Take Train Ride

CONCORD—The first, second and third grades of the Concord school enjoyed a train ride to Beardstown last week. There were 34 children and their teachers Mrs. Parrell Cooper and Mrs. Harry Dean.

The trip climaxed a study of transportation. A tour of the rail yards and roundhouse was made. After viewing the new bridge the children returned by way of school bus home.

Busy Bee's 4-H

The May meeting of the Busy Bee's was held on Monday evening at the Methodist church basement. The meeting was opened by the president, Mary Rayborn, with the group giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the 4-H pledge. Music was in charge of Marilee Joeckel who played for the singing of several 4-H songs. Judy Zulauf played a piano solo. Roll call was answered by naming projects chosen for this year's work. Discussion followed in regard to rally and next meeting.

The program chairman Judy Zulauf called on Carolyn Ragan for a safety talk, Lorraine Schall demonstrated how to choose cloth best for you. Elaine Ragan showed how to stencil cloth and Phyllis Moss demonstrated tools used in baking. Patsy Robison made a funny cake which was very entertaining. Mrs. Maltby gave a talk on points of 4-H. Recreation hour was in charge of Phyllis Moss leading in games and refreshments were served by Judy Zulauf and Sara Rayborn of ice cream bars, cookies and coolade.

THEY WERE ALL MAD

Recently American newspapers carried a photograph of Rudolph Hess, once the No. 2 Nazi in Hitler's hierarchy, now a gaunt, wild-staring madman. It was a stark reminder that exactly 10 years ago the darkness of total defeat was closing in upon Hitler and his evil henchmen.

They were not all pathologically insane, like Hess, who by then had flown off to England on a weird mission to enlist British support for the war against Soviet Russia. But they were obsessed by power.

The Nazi regime had nothing else. It had no philosophy of government. Its doctrines of the "pure Aryan race" were mere window dressing for the excesses of a bloody tyranny. It had no social program.

Nazism was a cult of power, nothing more. Its leaders worshiped power for its own sake. When their world began to crumble about them, and it was clear Hitler had to go, they quarreled and schemed among themselves for what they imagined would be Nazi control of a post-war German government.

That was one of their great follies, for the victorious democracies never had the slightest intention of handing even a tattered shred of power to any Nazi.

When the Allied armies had crushed them, what a transformation had come over that strutting crew of brutal men. Hitler, Goebbels and Himmler were dead by their own hands. Ribbentrop, once the dashing champagne salesman, later Hitler's top diplomat, was found cringing in a dark hideout. Goering, a rumpus hulk, yielded himself to capture with no trace of bravado. Martin Bormann simply vanished.

It was hard to believe that these shells and ghosts of men had built a colossal military juggernaut and sent it hurtling east and west across Europe, spreading ruin and death to many millions. It was hard to believe these men had visited a plague of evil upon the earth for 12 long years.

But they had. Feeding upon human anxieties arising from another war and from the troubles of a baffling industrial age, they had seized the reins of a strong nation and deformed it until it fit their wicked designs.

And when they learned they could not impose their designs upon the most powerful lands beyond the German borders, they exposed the full depth of their viciousness by trying to bring down the house as they collapsed. Hitler even urged that Germany itself be ravaged to prevent the Allies from using its resources.

In this ghastly purpose, to cheat the winners of the fruits of victory, the Nazis did not wholly fail. For they left Europe a smoking heap of rubble, stripped of its reserves of wealth and much of its young manpower. They left an aching vacuum of power which beckoned irresistibly to the new colossus—Soviet Russia. They left a heritage of problems that may haunt us for many decades.

Yes, doctors likely will say that only Hess among these men was truly insane. But by the broad measure humanity must apply, they were all mad for visiting upon the world this tragedy of ruin and privation and pain.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Davy Crockett of this generation are the suburbanites.

They are the kings of a new frontier—the housing developments springing up like maddened dandelion patches around the rim of every major American city.

These suburban settlers face more perils than ever confronted the original Davy Crockett. All he had to worry about were Indians, bears and bobcats. His trusty rifle proved to be weapon enough to deal with them.

Your new suburbanite, on the other hand, is confronted by all kinds of open and hidden menaces to his feeling of security and well-being—such as rising taxes, increasing commuter fares, spreading crabgrass, poison ivy, and that greatest danger of all, the fix-it yourself mania.

Let me explain that last point further:

One of these modern-day Davy Crocketts, a friend whom we'll call Ronald Halfacre, moved to the suburbs several years ago and ever since he has been asking me: "Why don't you get wise, pull out of the city and buy a house out my way?"

"Frankly, I don't have the courage," I keep telling him. "Every civilization has its form of cowardice, and I'm a machine-age coward. Life is too risky in the suburbs."

"I don't get you," says Ronald. "Well, everyone I know who becomes a suburbanite buys a house that is either half finished or begins to fall apart the day he moves in." I tell him. "He finds he can't afford to hire expert help so he decides to fix up the place himself."

And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, "This is my beloved Son; hear him."—Luke 9:35.

WASHINGTON (AP)—What will the United States position be if Red China plays nice, maybe agrees to a cease-fire around Formosa, and then wants to get into the United Nations?

American opposition to U. N. membership for them might change.

One stumbling block to Red China's admittance—although not necessarily the final one—would be removed if the veto power of the Security Council on new members was ended.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., American ambassador to the U. N., this week suggested dropping the veto power on new members held by the Big Five powers of the Security Council—the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Nationalist China.

Under the present U. N. Charter, admittance of a new member hinges around what happens in the Security Council.

Seven of the 11 members—including all the Big Five—must vote yes. A veto by any of the Big Five can block a nation from membership.

Under Lodge's proposal, eliminating the veto, neither the United States nor Nationalist China could keep out Red China if any seven members voted yes.

It's possible that, with removal of the veto, Red China still couldn't get seven votes that would let her in. Russia has proposed U. N. membership for Red China several times, but there were never seven votes for admittance, making a veto unnecessary.

The veto to block membership for 14 other non-Communist nations.

Lodge made it plain, in testimony to a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, that he was speaking as an individual and was not expressing the views of the Eisenhower administration.

Up to this time the State Department hasn't taken a position on changes in the charter. Its attitude seems to be now let's go carefully about this sort of thing. It may be waiting, before taking a stand, to find out what American public opinion is.

So, although Lodge said he was speaking for himself, his views can serve as a trial balloon.

The United States has 27 places called Franklin and 27 called Clinton, says the National Geographic Society.

The period of time extended from the death of Solomon and the disruption under his son, Rehoboam, until the fall of the northern kingdom in 722 B.C., and the exile of the people of the southern kingdom to Babylon in 586 B.C.

It is this quality of timeliness that keeps the historical books of the Old Testament so insistently alive.

Generations, though they have not always heeded the lessons, have found in this history of the Jewish people the crucial evidence of what has happened, is happening, and can happen to nations and peoples, when wisdom, vision and righteousness prevail. Or when injustice, inhumanity, and immorality are allowed to do their festering work of destruction.

The history of each king, or prophet, is a part of the story; but of the kings as individuals there is a monotony in the record. Both in the kingdom of Judah and in the kingdom of Israel, the story is so often the same of a king who "did evil in the sight of the Lord," misruled his people and misled them into idolatry (which meant into moral decadence and corruption).

Here and there the record is broken, with a king who did good, like Asa (11 Chronicles 14-16), and his son, Jehoshaphat (11 Chronicles 17); and like the young king, Josiah, who escaped to become king in the slaughter of all his kin (11 Chronicles 22: 10-12). The contrast between the zeal for righteousness of Jehoshaphat and the wickedness of his son, Ahaziah, who succeeded him, is again emphasized as Josiah, Ahaziah's son, returns to the ways of his grandfather, rebuilding "the house of the Lord," and ruling well in his forty years on the throne.

But these chapters in the ancient story in the Second Book of Chronicles, like so much in all the history of kings and dynasties, are red with massacre, as well as corrupt with wickedness and violence.

The story of Ahab and Jezebel enters into the record, for, while Jehoshaphat ruled righteously in Judah, Omri, a wicked king, usurped power in the Northern Kingdom of Israel, and was succeeded by the more famous and equally wicked Ahab.

It is here that Athaliah comes in, a woman comparable to Jezebel in her ruthless cruelty. It was she who had all the seed royal of the house of Judah slaughtered, when Josiah was hidden and escaped. She was the wife of Jehoram, who succeeded Jehoshaphat, and as the daughter of Omri was the sister of Ahab.

The record perpetuates itself. We know of evil entanglements in high places even in comparatively modern times.

It was to Jehoshaphat's credit that he maintained his integrity in spite of the military alliance with Ahab, that nearly cost him his life, in the battle in which Ahab was slain.

The vivid story of the battle is in 11 Chronicles 18, and to me the most interesting figure is the certain man "who drew a bow at a venture." It was his arrow that killed King Ahab. The moral of the story to me is that if you're facing the right way, and doing your best, even if you can't see clearly, you never know how great your act or your influence may be.

Frozen Whipped Cream on
Fresh Fruit Is Tasty Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

During the last blizzard of the season, we had a very special dinner in Rochester, N. Y., at the home of the J. Frank Birdsalls, old friends of ours. First, oysters casino, then 1-inch slices of smoked ham baked in a slow oven with brown sugar, a little dry mustard and 1 cup water.

With it Frank Birdsall (he did the cooking), served cheese fritters. He made a batter of flour, eggs, milk and baking powder, as you would for griddle cakes but a little stiffer. He says you could use a prepared pancake mix, too. Into the batter he stirred grated Parmesan and grated Romano cheese and added a little salt. He dropped the batter by spoonfuls into hot fat and cooked until evenly and temptingly brown.

He served also little pastries to go with the ham, small cups of puff paste filled with applesauce, garnished with an unsweetened meringue. All went under a flame just to give the meringue a southern tan.

With this dinner he served an excellent red wine, Chateau Neuf du Pape 1937. The logs burned in the big fireplace during dinner and the table was beautiful with spring flowers.

Desert was Frank's special invention. A major in the Army during the last war, specializing in food service, he set up the Advanced Food Service School for Army officers. He is now manager of the new modern Treadway Inn on historical East Avenue in Rochester. But his desert—

In crystal bowls, he placed sections of fresh grapefruit and oranges and whole strawberries. On top of each serving, he placed a large square of frozen whipped cream. As the cream was being whipped, he stirred in sliced strawberries. Next he placed the cream in an ice cube tray and sprinkled blueberries over the top. He kept the cream in the freezing tray for 3 hours before serving.

We thought it the best fresh fruit dessert we've eaten in a long time. When this former major serves a dinner, it's a dinner.

MONDAY'S MENU: Ham slices baked in brown sugar and mustard, applesauce, cheese fritters, iver bread, butter or margarine, celery and carrot sticks, orange and grapefruit sections with fruited whipped cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Backsliding and Reform

The history of the Jewish people, in the divided kingdoms of Judah and Israel, offers case material of incisive interest and profit in its bearing upon social and national welfare and destiny.

Congress Has Lot of Work To Do to Justify Pay Raise

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—As of May 1, President Eisenhower has made 145 requests for new legislation to the 84th Congress.

Action has been completed on just 20 of these requests. The list includes 12 general legislative proposals and the ratification of eight international agreements by the Senate.

The list does not include appropriation bills to finance government operations during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. And it does not include legislative proposals originating in the Congress, or in the executive departments of government.

But only 12 such measures have thus far been cleared by the Congress and signed into law by the President. In one, Congress raised its own pay, but for what?

With four months of this session of Congress down and only three months to go—if the desire to adjourn by Aug. 1 is carried out—it can be seen that an awful lot of steam will have to be put on if President Eisenhower's program is to get any place this year.

The Lethargy Is A Little difficult to account for.

It can be explained in part by the fact that the Democratic-controlled Congress isn't any too anxious to help a Republican president make a good record. On the other hand, some of the President's strongest support on the trade agreements renewal and international affairs has come from the Democratic side of the aisles.

Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has been a tower of strength to the administration. He has pushed through ratification of mutual defense treaty with China, the Southeast Asia treaty, German rearmament agreement, foreign service reorganization and several minor agreements with foreign countries. The grant of authority to the President to determine what action should be taken to defend Formosa was passed in jig time.

Military pay incentives were passed in part. The new military reserves plan has passed the House with major changes.

Postal Pay Raises Have Been approved but at a higher scale than the President recommended. General government employees' pay and allowance increases have cleared the Senate only.

Three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program has passed the House.

Nearly all the other proposals are hung up in committee. Signs of revolt and slowdown against the President's program are many. This is in spite of Mr. Eisenhower's assurances to his press conference that it's too early to tell what the congressional record will be.

The House Agriculture Committee has approved a return to high, rigid price supports. The Senate has appropriated 11 million dollars more for Department of Agriculture than the President requested. This is seven million dollars more than the House approved.

There is serious questioning in both Houses of Congress on the administration's cutback of military manpower and its defense policies in general.

Democratic Opposition To The Dixon-Yates electric power supply contract for the Tennessee Valley seems to have slowed down all administration public power proposals. Only the Upper Colorado River development has passed the Senate.

There seems to be little congressional enthusiasm for the President's health reinsurance, education, highway, housing and postal rate increase proposals.

The Trade Agreements Act expires June 12. The 281 billion-dollar debt limit returns to 275 billion unless extended by June 30. Foreign Aid and Small Business Administrations are scheduled to go out of business by June 30. Selective Service and various Housing Act authorities expire July 1.

There's an awful lot of work to be done around here in the next 90 days if Congress is to justify that $7500 a year pay raise.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was a time when eastern actors would come to Hollywood with hat in hand, hopeful for what the movies could give them. Television has changed all that.

T V actors can be independent, and they are. Most of them realize that the films can help build their names and bank accounts. But movies today provide steady employment for only a choice few. And so New York actors need not wait around for roles here. They can head east and keep active.

One such performer is Rod Steiger, the chunky young actor who won an Oscar nomination for his second film, "On the Waterfront." He said he was happy with the nomination, which improved his professional standing and earning power.

But he was even prouder of a Sylvania TV award. Reason: he got the Academy honor for just one role. The TV honor came for a variety of portrayals, from Andrei Vishinsky to the love-starved Marty.

"I like doing pictures," Steiger remarked. "But I'm convinced that you should never come to Hollywood until you've established your name in another medium. If you don't you can get lost here."

He feels that Hollywood has underestimated the power of TV to establish names.

"They say that TV actors have to go to Hollywood or Broadway to make a name for themselves," he declared. "That's a lot of baloney. Last summer Kim Stanley took 'The Traveling Lady' to Michigan and turned away 500 people every night. It was not because of her Broadway reputation, but because she had done the show on TV."

Manners Make Friends

"Do come by and see us sometime" may sound like an invitation. But it is so vague that it is seldom regarded as more than a pleasantry. If you really want someone to come to see you set a definite date.

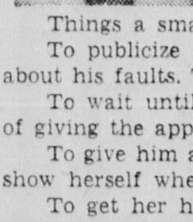

That is real hospitality.

TOP MAN—Roger M. Blough, 51, is the new board chairman and chief executive officer of U. S. Steel Corp. The Pennsylvania-born lawyer succeeds Benjamin Fairless, who retired.

Smart Wife Is Invaluable
Public Relations Counselor

Things a smart wife learns early in marriage: To publicize her husband's good qualities and keep entirely silent about his faults. This makes her an invaluable public relations counselor.

To wait until her husband wants to talk over his business, instead of giving the appearance of prying by asking a lot of questions.

To give him a chance to shine as a host instead of running the whole show herself whenever there are guests.

To get her household well enough organized so that every morning isn't a hectic scramble.

To really listen when her husband talks, even though he doesn't always give her his undivided attention when she would like to have it.

LIVE WITHIN INCOME

To notice and comment when he gets a haircut, wears a new tie, or comes home from the office looking dead beat. These are just small evidences that she still sees him when she looks at him.

To ask his advice now and then and take it at least part of the time.

To give him some space where he can keep his possessions as he pleases, knowing that she isn't going to straighten and rearrange periodically.

To be able to turn down an invitation, instead of feeling the need to go everywhere they are invited, even though it means going out at night in the week.

To keep at least her expressed wants within her husband's income, since nothing does more to make a man feel that he is on a treadmill than having a wife who is forever dissatisfied with what he can give her.

To take his criticism lightly, instead of getting hurt feelings or trying to make him wish he had never opened his mouth.

CHAPTER FOUR

Synopsis—Roy Parker and Phil Stallers are making a crash landing in a two seater rocket. The rocket engines have just exploded!

As the ship's engines blew up, the control room was shot out to safety by a catapult.

Rocket engineers had found that it was a simple matter to rig up a gadget that worked very much like a sling shot. It was operated by a radar set.

Whenever any of the controls of the ship went haywire, the catapult would shoot the control room off away from the ship. The control room was completely sealed off by heavy, coated plastic.

The catapult had sent the control room high up into the sky. Then the parachutes opened and allowed the control room to settle back down to earth.

Roy and Phil were gently set down about half a mile away from their burning rocket ship. They were quite upset over their close call.

Captain Gives Warning
Captain Larson was rather severe with them when they turned in their report.

"Never stay more than a step away from the control panel, boys," he said in a stern voice. "You could have saved the ship, had you been able to slow it down more quickly."

"The tremendous heat caused by the friction of the ship scraping against the ground is what caused it to explode. Let's hope it never happens again. If it does, we'll have to put you two out of Rocket Ranger training!"

More Excitement
Roy had many more exciting experiences during his four years of Rocket Ranger training, but he was always very careful to follow all rules. He had learned from the one close experience that a Rocket Ranger never takes chances. Classes, hard physical work-outs in the gymnasium, and rocket ship flying took up almost all of Roy's time.

By now he no longer was the tall, skinny lad who had entered Rocket Ranger training four years ago. Now he was a broad-shouldered husky, determined young man with the glint of the planets in his eyes.

Graduation Close
Graduation day was tomorrow! The entire Rocket Ranger Academy was excited, because Graduation Day was one day long to be remembered. What a thrill it would be for the graduates as they would march, single file, across the stage of the huge auditorium. General Bradshaw, Commander-in-chief of the Rocket Rangers, would then personally pin the rocket wings on the tunic of each successful candidate. Then he would shake his hand warmly in congratulations. Very few of the candidates slept soundly that night, and Roy was no exception.

They all dreamed of how proud their parents down in the audience would be when General Bradshaw welcomed them officially into the Rocket Ranger Corps!

Parents Come
Graduation day was a bright and sunny one. A few cumulus clouds skipped lazily across the sky. Roy and Phil waited at the gates for their parents to arrive. Mr. and Mrs. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Stallers had driven to the Academy in the Parker's car. They had come together since Jacksonville, Roy's home, and Murrayville, Phil's home, were only a few miles apart. The boys showed them around the academy until it was time for the Graduation Exercises to start. (CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK)

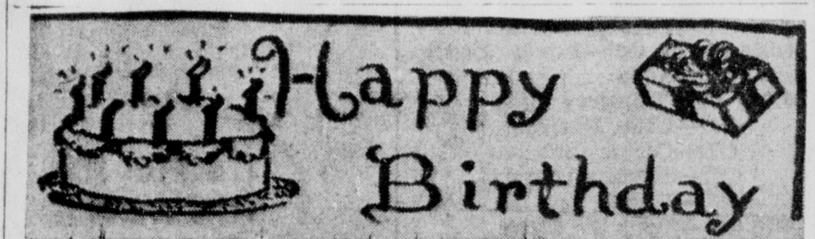

Like many other families, the Reavy sisters and brothers of 730 W. State, went shopping with their father last week for the gift they are giving their mother today.

In the photograph above you see the girls in their pretty dresses and flower-decked hats, and the brothers in their neat suits. From left to right they are Mary, Jeanette, Pauline, Josephine (Dee Dee), Bobby, their father Robert R. Reavy, and Mike.

And too young to shop, but sharing in the Mother's Day gift of course were little brother George and baby Frank.

I'm sure you gave something to your mother today too. Be sure and give her a big hug and a kiss too. She'll like that more than even the very nicest gift. (Though of course she likes the gift too!)

RAILROAD BIRTHDAY

Of course a railroad can't really have a Birthday, but next Tuesday will be the birthday of an important day for two railroads.

Long ago there were no railroads that ran all the way across our wide country.

People who wanted to go to California rode in juncy covered wagons. Or they sailed all the way around South America. (There was no Panama Canal then).

Railroad Plans

To make this a pleasanter and quicker trip they decided to build a railroad all the way across the United States.

Some workers began in California and started building the railroad toward the East. Other workers began where the railroad from the East ended in Nebraska, and began to build it farther toward the West.

Railroads Meet

There were hardly any cities as these workers got further from the California coast, and further from Omaha, Nebraska. They had to sleep and eat outdoors.

But at last the two roads met. That day, May 10, 1869, was a day for joyful celebrating. The last spike, the one that joined the two railroads, was made of gold.

The president of the railroad pounded in this golden spike as the crowds cheered.

GARDEN TIME

By Loella Sloan Young
Hello again boys and girls! I wonder how many of you are beginning to think about a springtime garden?

Every year about this time when the days are noticeably longer and the sunshine feels warm on your face it's time to begin to think about a garden.

Ask Dad if you could have a small garden plot all your own, not far from a water supply, just in case Mother Nature fails to send the needed moisture to properly nourish your tender plants.

May Need A Spade

If you live in the country Dad will probably prepare the soil for you with his tractor; if not, you'll probably have to resort to the spade or potato fork.

Don't try to plant all of your garden at one time. A little planted each week will bring a smaller amount to maturity at a given time.

Small Garden Is Better

Don't plant more than you can use. It is easier to care for a smaller plot, and some cooks do not wait come a sink full of green beans on a 100 degree day.

Now for a little extra surprise. Why not plant a plant a few herbs in your garden. They will lend an exciting new taste to those everyday vegetables.

There are many kinds which to choose. I'm sure the Public Library has several books which would tell how to plant and use herbs.

Home Grown Salad!
Just think! Some evening you could prepare a cool tossed salad from your very own vegetables, seasoned deliciously with a blend of herbs from your own garden.

So start planning—then start planting—and good luck!

How To Make A Drawing For New Junior Contest

Do you have ink, a black crayon, or a dark blue marking pencil? And do you have some heavy white paper, or light weight cardboard?

If you have these things, then all you need is an idea to draw for the new Junior Journal-Courier contest. And it's easy to think of an idea, isn't it?

Maybe, you like to draw faces, or people. Perhaps you want to draw a flower, an Indian tent, or a design. Whatever you want to draw is alright for this contest.

But be sure to make your drawing not later than 3 1/2 inches wide, and 4 1/2 inches long.

Give your name, age and address. The contest closes May 31, but we will print as many drawings as we have room for as soon as they are received.

YOUR JOKE COLUMN

Here is a joke sent in by TERRY O'BRIEN, 1104 W. Walnut.

A little worm came out out of the ground. He looked around and saw a worm behind him.

First worm: You sure are cute. Will you marry me?

Second worm: I can't marry you. I'm the other end of you.

Now here are some jokes we think are funny.

Billy: This rainy day ain't very nice.
Teacher: Where's your grammar, Billy?

Billy: Grammar's home cause it ain't a nice day.

Father: I'm going to whip you for chopping down this cherry tree.
Boy: George Washington's father didn't whip him when he chopped down a cherry tree.

Father: Well, maybe George Washington's father wasn't in the tree.

Teacher: I'm going to write a note to your mother, and thank her for these 8 nice apples, Johnny.
Johnny: Would you mind thanking her for 12 apples, teacher?

Do you know a good joke? If you do, send it to—

Willy: "Say something peculiar."
Silly: "Glass snake."
Willy: "What's peculiar about that?"

Silly: "Well, a glass snake isn't glass, but brittle-tailed. It isn't a snake, either, but a lizard without legs."

Usher: "Where do you want to sit—up, halfway up, or in the back?"

Silly: "I'd rather sit down."
Do you know a good joke? If you do send it to the Junior Journal.

"Face washed!" Jackie asked.
"Yes, Jackie, its face is washed, and it's not quite dry yet," answered Mrs. Hall kindly.

Then she took Jackie to the sidewalk and watched him cross the street.

Soon she heard him call, "Muvver, Muvver, a flower for Muvver's Day. Its face is washed."

Isn't that cute, Mrs. Hall thought. "Its face is washed." That's a very beautiful thought.

Mother's Day Rose

By Emma Mae Leonard

Didn't Like To Wash

Three-year-old Jackie, the baby of the family, was a real boy who had his own ideas about when his face should be washed. It was bad enough to have to have all of the play dirt scrubbed off at bath time before dinner.

It was worse when he got up in the morning to have it washed, for it was still clean. Why did his mother always insist on washing that clean face before he ate his breakfast?

Jackie also had an older brother and sister, Larry and Laura. Although they loved Jackie, they didn't usually include him in their plots and plans. However, Jackie usually hung around them when he wasn't shut up in his room supposedly taking his nap.

And that was another thing that he couldn't understand, the necessity of taking naps. Larry and Laura didn't have to take a nap every afternoon.

Queer Word

As usual, Jackie was tagging Larry and Laura. They, in turn, were trying to get rid of him, for they were planning something secret. He heard a queer word to him—Mother's Day. Didn't Mother wash him, feed him, and love him every day? Wasn't every day Mother's day?

He heard Larry say, "Let's surprise Mother and get her some flowers."

"You know we can't," complained Laura. "You spent your money to go to the movie last Saturday."

"So did you," snapped Larry.

Flowers Cost Money
"Well, flowers cost money," so that's that," groaned Laura.

"I know where we can get some for nothing. Mrs. Hall has some pretty flowers back of her lily pool in her garden," said Larry.

But Laura wasn't too sure. Mrs. Hall had caught her and Larry playing in the lily pond and frightening the goldfish. And the worst thing was that they had trampled some of the daffodils at one end of the pool.

Jackie decided to help. "Muvver's day! Me go too," Jackie begged. "Me want flowers too."

"Go where?" asked Laura, trying to throw him off the track. If Jackie learned their secret to get some flowers for Mother's Day, he'd let it out. But she asked Jackie again, "Go where?"

Jackie Starts Off
"See Mrs. Hall," Jackie said and started toward the street and Mrs. Hall's garden. Laura and Larry exchanged glances. How were they to get rid of Jackie? They used their most successful way: they dashed around the corner of the house, leaped over the neighbor's backyard fence, and left Jackie screaming, "Me go too! Me go too!"

Jackie ran as fast as his short fat legs would carry him, but he couldn't climb the fence. His

FISHING My Favorite Sport

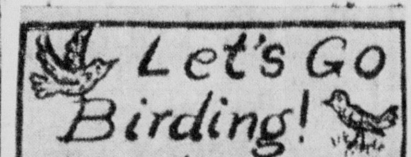

By Carl Berdzinski

My favorite sport is fishing. The best spot I've found to fish is in Lake Springfield. We went out one Sunday and caught 50 lbs. of carp.

When we came home, we gave it to my grandfather to put in the deep freeze. So we had fish for dinner.

Fishing is a sport that you can enjoy twice. First when you catch them, and then when you eat them.

The Naughty Mockingbird

By Emma Mae Leonard

Instead of taking you on a walk or a trip to see or listen to birds, I want to tell you about a naughty bird I have had in my garden this spring.

He's not naughty all of the time, but he certainly was one Sunday morning. That morning when he came to his favorite tree to eat the little crabapples, he saw something that he had not seen before—white and blue crocuses blooming nearby in the grass.

After he swallowed two of the little red apples, he glided down to the blue crocuses, picked off two of the flowers, and laid them on the grass about three feet from the plants. Then away he flew.

Bird Picks Flowers

Sometime later, he returned and repeated his performance, this time choosing two white crocuses. Whoever heard of birds picking flowers and decorating their dining-room with them? He certainly was a smart bird.

But he soon grew tired of this sport and left me plenty of blue and white crocuses to enjoy. And that was kind of him, wasn't it?

Who Was He?

Who was this mischievous bird? A beautiful long-tailed, pale-gray bird, with large white patches on his wings and tail, which shown clearly as he flew. He was a Mockingbird, known as king of song.

Because of his beautiful melody of song mocking that of many other kinds of birds, I had to forgive him. Wouldn't you?

But That Wasn't the End of His Tricks

Birds Like People
It sometimes seems to me that people are like birds, or maybe birds are like people. Some people, including boys and girls, think that they are just about the only people in the world and don't seem to want to get along with others.

Do you know any boys and girls who think that their daddies and mothers live at home just to feed them, dress them, and buy anything that they want? Or that their playmates exist just to be bossed around?

I'm afraid that a few birds are like them, among them this smart Mockingbird. But this time he wasn't so smart.

He Gets Fussy

He decided that he owned the whole garden—a place big enough for several birds—and began fussing at the Robins, Cardinals, and Grackles. He'd sit high up in the elm tree so that he could see all around, and he'd scold away down deep in his throat any bird that happened to fly into his part of the world.

He could sing beautifully, for I heard him more than once; but he didn't sing to any unwelcome bird visitor. He'd curl at the Robin or the Cardinal or any other bird the threatening words "chack, chack, chack," which meant "fly, fly, fly."

Busy Fighting

If the Robin, or the Cardinal, or the Grackle didn't fly away, he'd give him a stare, rise gracefully from his perch, and drive him away. By that time another bird would move in on him, and he would have to "chack" at him and chase him away.

Finally he had several to fuss with at the same time. He really was kept so busy that he had time to snatch only a bite to eat between battles.

At last so many Robins, Cardinals, and Grackles demanded a place in the garden that he gave up and left the garden. At least, I think that's what happened, for one morning I missed him.

I'm really lonely without him, but he had to learn his lesson. He was pretty dumb this time; he hadn't realized that the world doesn't exist just for one bird.

Just like boys and girls, birds have to learn to share the world and to get along together.

Meal made from menhaden, one of the least known but most important species of commercial fish, is used for poultry and swine feeding.

Oils have been used as insecticides for over 50 years without insects developing resistance to them.

Octopuses squirt ink at their enemies and recent research indicates it is a chemical which can paralyze the sense of smell in the moray eel, one of the principal enemies of the octopus.

Dear Juniors:

I have been wondering whether or not you know these facts:

An average person eats forty-five tons of food in a lifetime.

An average stick of chewing gum contains nine calories.

There are 2,997 cross ties in the average mile of railway track.

If all the eggs laid in this country in an average year were laid end to end, they would reach a million miles.

There is an average of 15,350 drops in a quart of milk.

The skin of an average apple is five times as rich in Vitamin C as its flesh.

That you weigh more in an elevator when it is going up.

Can you think of more facts that our readers might not know?

Free Germany's Ten-Year Twist Of Fate

1945: NO. 1 FOE 1955: KEY ALLY

An innocent generation of Germans looks at its inheritance—shame, bombed-out cities, poverty and a thoroughly defeated homeland. Now, ten years after the surrender of Germany, May 8, 1945, that inheritance is remarkably transformed west of the Soviet zone.

As the East-West cold war developed, the western world saw the need for West Germany's aid in defending Europe against possible Communist aggression. Plans were made for West Germany to contribute 12 divisions to a European army, but France's fear of a rearmament Germany kept these plans from becoming an early reality. Meanwhile, a West German police force, armed only with small weapons, grew up, later to become the nucleus of a West German army within the framework of NATO. A group of these police inspect weapons, above, during training in American sector in Berlin.

Under the Yalta Agreement defeated Germany was divided into four zones, one each administered by U.S., Great Britain, France and Russia. Russia's zone soon became communized, and the Western world merged their zones in 1949, creating anti-Communist Federal Republic of Germany.

West Germany's economy, in the meantime, made rapid strides. Today she is the strongest nation in Europe, economically, competing commercially in world markets. The Republic's 1954 import and export figures more than doubled pre-war 1936 levels.

Then, West Germany rolled up its sleeves for the build-up job ahead. Under the leadership of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, it immediately began a comeback that has made West Germany the strongest nation in Europe, and vital key to the success of NATO.

West Germany's independence will be assured when the western powers complete ratification of the Paris pact to rearm their one-time enemy and end occupation. Although fear of a remilitarized Germany lingers in many quarters, NATO nations are pleased that a free West Germany will soon join them in the struggle against communism. This pleasure is reflected above in the faces of U.S. President Eisenhower, left, and Secretary of State Dulles as the President signs U.S. approval of the pact. West Germany will be the 15th NATO nation. And while West Germans rejoice at their freedom, their countrymen in the Russian zone remain under the Communist fist.

Students Phone Reds With Five Questions For Bulganin

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A group of Brigham Young University students telephoned the Kremlin Thursday with five questions for Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin. Their spokesman said he talked to a man in Moscow who identified himself as Bulganin's private secretary and promised the questions would be answered.

Political Science Prof. Stewart Grow said the call was approved by the State Department. He said Robert I. Owen of the European Affairs Section told him the Russians sometimes give out information on new policies through such calls.

The call, which was tape recorded, lasted eight minutes and cost $36. The student newspaper identified the student spokesman as Peter Lysenko, 19, a native of Crimea who came to the United States several years ago.

The students clustered around a rotary telephone as Lysenko talked to Moscow. They later phoned the White House and got an assistant to Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty. They asked him to relay to President Eisenhower the first four questions in the list they gave the Russian.

The questions:

1. What do you think is the major stumbling block to better relations between the United States and Russia?
2. What can we as students do to improve relations between the United States and Russia?
3. What would be your reaction to an exchange student program or travel study tours?
4. Would you be willing, through the lowering of restrictions and through reciprocal trade agreements, to increase trade between the United States and Russia?
5. We have heard that Russia has eased up on its religious policies. We would like to know what your religious policies are at the present time.

Somewhere else put through a call to the Kremlin from the dormitory phone last Sunday. But when it was completed nobody would admit placing it—and nobody wanted to part with $13.20 to talk three minutes to the Russians.

Hamburger Fry For Murrayville Class June 13

MURRAYVILLE — The Family class of the Methodist Sunday school met Monday evening in the church basement. The president, Joe Millon had charge of the business session. The opening prayer was given by Charles McNelly.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Clifford Walker. The treasurer's report was by Miss Bernice Harvey.

The class voted to have a hamburger fry on the church lawn on June 13th. Mrs. McNelly and Mrs. Joe Millon were appointed to make the drink.

The meeting closed, followed by group singing. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Millon.

Mrs. Harry Rimbey spent several days last week in the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gibbins in Roodhouse and helped care for her new granddaughter, Barbara Ann.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Newman of Springfield was a weekend visitor with her father, Edward Newman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mutch, Mrs. Edward Tendick and Carolyn Sue Spencer, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Carlson of Jacksonville took their lunch to Springfield Sunday and with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Evans and family enjoyed a picnic dinner at Lake Springfield. They later called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gross.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kehl and Darlene and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maxwell and Dianne of Bloomington were Sunday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Blimling and family.

PARDON US, GALS — Craig Fox turns his head from the camera, and no wonder. He's modeling, of all things, a handbag for men, shown recently at a men's fashion show in New York City. Designer says it's made primarily for travel, but it looks more like one more "steal" from milady's fashions.

Blind Family Of Three Operates 'Typical' Farm In Southern Illinois

By C. K. BOESCHENSTEIN

VIENNA, Ill. (AP) — The Murrie family lives on a 554-acre cattle-grain farm in the rolling, rocky, wooded section of Illinois "Egypt", six miles east of this town (pronounced with the long "I") not far from the Ohio River.

The sights and sounds of the Murrie farm are not unlike those of their neighbors. The Murries have 100 head of cattle, about 90 acres in grain, leghorn chickens, two roan horses, two brown shaggy dogs, a white cat.

From their neat two-story frame farmhouse on a ridge there is a far view of verdant hills and valleys.

But, although this has been the Murrie homestead for generations, the trio now living in the white farmhouse has seen the view only dimly in early childhood. They are totally blind.

Regarding this less as a handicap than as a challenge, they operate the pleasant farm in a clean-cut, thrifty style through all the hazards of farming, including two barn burnings and a lightning strike on the house.

The three are Violet, 45, Hartwell, 44, and Arthur, 41. Violet is the housekeeper, Hartwell the farmer and Arthur, a musician with a master's degree from Illinois Wesleyan University, works both indoors and out at farm chores.

Alone, three blind persons probably would find it impossible to run a farm. The three Murries are not alone. Since their birth they have depended on the understanding eyes of their mother Mrs. Ollie Murrie.

At 74, the mother's role on the farm is advisory, but she still does the cooking, ironing and mending, writes the checks and makes out the shopping lists. The father, Charles W. Murrie, died 12 years ago.

All four of their children were born with defective eyesight — a lack of optic nerve development that turned from extreme nearsightedness in early childhood to blindness. The fourth child and the eldest son, Arvel, is married and lives on an adjoining farm.

Hartwell, Arthur and Violet have the feel of their farm so well in mind they walk around it without guidance. Hartwell also likes to ride. Twice a day he rides the farm, bareback, to "look over" his stock.

Hartwell shows the remarkable sense of feeling and hearing often given to the blind. As the cows were being rounded up for milking, he startled a newspaper photographer by announcing, "That's Barney (the cow's name) coming."

The photographer said he didn't see or hear anything, but a moment later Barney appeared.

Hartwell and Arthur sometimes operate a power saw-together, but when it's time for other power devices, such as tractors, they rely on Dee Johnson, a farmer who lives three miles away. Johnson also helps the brothers with other farm work.

Hartwell does the family marketing. He makes his way around the familiar Vienna courthouse square without help except when his friends there notice he needs it.

At the market, he presents the list made by his mother. The grocer fills it.

Arthur wears glasses, not as any aid toward sight, but to keep his eyes from paining. With his fingers, he likes to read novels, transposed into braille. He also likes to listen to literary recordings.

The mother reads the newspapers to the family. One of the most valued possessions in the household is a tiny radio that is the center of attention when the day's work is done.

The College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois, anxious to bring the farm closer to the school, often sends students to typical farms to find out all about what goes on there. One student at random chose the Murrie farm for a study of cattle raising on a small farm.

He found it was in many ways typical of a good farm, with healthy cattle, a variety of other animals and a sound policy of planting part of the acreage in grain.

But what surprised him, and his university instructors when he reported back, were the blind operators of the "typical" farm.

Religious Survey To Be Made At Bluffs

BLUFFS—In final action for the present year in work of the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Bluffs Senior Club Tuesday voted to make a survey of the religious activities of all youth in Road District 7 and throughout the summer and the 1955-56 club year urge regular attendance at the Sunday school and church of their choice. This service project is in keeping with the wishes of the General Federation president, Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman of Jerseyville in the attempt to strike at juvenile delinquency.

Other business included the urging of all members and club friends to write to the governor, our representatives of the state General Assembly George Wilson of Baylis, Carl Wittmond of Brussels and H. B. Ihnen of Quincy and Senator Schlagenhauf, also of Quincy asking their support of the bill offering an increased appropriation to be used for education of all handicapped in Illinois.

The 44 members of the club and their guests enjoyed the annual spring luncheon and program in the social rooms of the Neeleyville Lutheran church, the ladies of the church served the luncheon. Each person found a floral nosegay at her place and the tables were decorated in the club colors of pink and green, with tiny pots of plants and lighted candles as decorations.

Songs of welcome and old favorites were sung during the lunch hour after which the president, Mrs. Wendell Brackett, opened the business session. Guests were Mrs. Carl Stegemann, Mrs. Carl Pahlman, Mrs. Robert Albers and Mrs. Hubert Gregory, were introduced as was the club's one charter member, Mrs. Emma Thompson. Department reports were presented by Mrs. John Pine, Mrs. Harvey Vortman, Mrs. James Baird and Dr. Louise Kuehn on the Marquette Home for Boys, the federation magazines, publicity and Salk Polio vaccine respectively.

Perfect Attendance
It was announced that 13 members had perfect attendance throughout the club year and they are Mrs. Wendell Brackett, Mrs. Florence Brackett, Mrs. Clyde Arnold, Mrs. James Baird, Mrs. Oliver Chambers, Mrs. Virgil Coughlin, Mrs. Floyd Hart, Mrs. Donald Merriam, Mrs. Claus Kronecke, Mrs. I. D. Mueller, Mrs. Donald Mullen, Mrs. Paul B. Smith and Mrs. Edward Marsh.

Minor changes in the club's constitution and by-laws were adopted by the organization and plans were completed for the erection of Federation roadside signs at the Bluffs city limits during the summer months.

The 58 colored slides, "Your Home Charming" were shown through the courtesy of Celanese Corp. of America by Mrs. Virgil Coughlin with Mrs. Paul Vannier reading the commentary. At the close of the program two pieces of celanese material were presented as door prizes to Mrs. Clyde Arnold, and Mrs. Fred Muntman. A chocolate cake was presented to Mrs. Oliver Chambers, an angel food cake to Mrs. William Chambers and a sesame pit to Mrs. Donald Merriam through the courtesy of Mrs. Wendell Brackett.

Mrs. Wendell Brackett closed the afternoon program with her solo "An Evening Prayer," a fitting climax to the year of activity as president of the local club of 53 active and three charter members. She will go to Chicago next week for the 60th state convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs held at Hotel Sherman.

Mrs. John Pine directed a simple but impressive installation service for Mrs. Brackett, president; Mrs. Jack Moore, vice president; Mrs. I. D. Mueller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Oliver Chambers, recording secretary; Mrs. Floyd Hart, treasurer. All joined in praying the "Lord's Prayer" to close the ceremony and before sounding the gavel for adjournment all members read the Club Collect.

CHOOSE

Who can do the best job for you as Executor of your will?
YOUR WIFE? Hardly. Settling an estate (even a small one) can be a mighty complex job — and must be done at a time when she's least able to cope with extra burdens.

YOUR BROTHER or BEST FRIEND? Again, no. He can ill afford to take the time from his business — and he lacks the specialized experience needed to do the job properly.

ELLIOTT STATE BANK? A happy choice, as hundreds of families will tell you. Its Trust Department is trained to handle the dozens of details in settling an estate, large or small . . . efficiently, promptly, and at surprisingly low cost.

An ELLIOTT STATE TRUST OFFICER will be glad to discuss these advantages at once with you and your lawyer . . . Simply telephone 366 today for an appointment.

Grotto Sponsored Recital To Aid Crippled Children

The accompanying picture is of little Gail Rowland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowland, 503 South Prairie street. Gail is a student at the Lincoln school in Miss Milligan's class and is seated in a wheel chair similar to one recently presented to the school by the Grotto. Zingabado Grotto will sponsor a two hour dance revue on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 17 and 18 by the pupils of the Wanda Hopper Dance Studio at the JHS auditorium. The net proceeds will be used in the Grotto's national humanitarian fund to aid cerebral palsy, a part of which is used at the local Lincoln school.

The Revue will feature tap, toe and ballet dancing as well as baton twirling in a colorful setting that promises to be one of the outstanding revues by students of dance ever presented locally. About one hundred pupils in Jacksonville's oldest operating dance studio will appear in the first recital presented by Miss Hopper in the past four years. Members of the Grotto will sell tickets in advance at popular prices and also they may be obtained at Heidinger drugstore in the business district or at the door Grotto members will issue programs both nights of the revue and serve as ushers.

This was the last regular meeting of the club. An extra meeting will be held the first Wednesday in June with a picnic with husbands as guests. A committee on arrangements for the picnic was named Mrs. Clark King and Mrs. Ray Kelly. A gift was presented to Mrs. Alice Moon, who will be leaving the city at the close of the school year.

Accordion Pupils Give Program At Liberty School

The Community club of the Liberty school neighborhood, west of the city, recently enjoyed an interesting program presented by the accordion pupils of Mrs. Marjorie Axe Prather.

Taking part were Becky DeFraties, Connie Driver and Sharon Eck. Mrs. Wendell Brackett of Bluffs also favored the group with vocal numbers, both classical and of a popular vein. A rhythm band, Nancy Williams, leader, with their teacher, Mrs. Paul Cooney, at the piano also played several numbers.

Following the program Willard Jones, president of the club, conducted a short business session. Inez Scott gave a secretary report and the committee for the May 26 meeting was named.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Killam.

CRAIG FAMILY INJURED IN ACCIDENT FRIDAY NIGHT

The above scene is a picture taken Friday evening on route 36 just after the 1951 Oldsmobile in which Mr. and Mrs. Maurice (Morrie) Craig and nine year old son, Billy, were riding was struck from the rear by a car driven by John Farmer of this city. Mr. Craig is seated beside the wrecked automobile. Mrs. Craig and son are seen before the injured man.

The Cooney ambulance took the three injured people to the Passavant hospital. Billy Craig had several stitches taken in a laceration on his back. Other than shock and extensive bruises, Mrs. Craig is believed to have suffered no apparent serious injury. X-rays taken Saturday morning revealed a small bone broken in Mr. Craig's ankle and a possible back injury. His condition was not regarded as serious.

The collision occurred near the Blackhawk motel as the Craig family was returning to the city after a short ride. Mr. Craig is manager of the Craig office supply in this city.

cars ARE MY Line
by: E. W. Brown
When the warm weather comes, the smart housewife shakes out the heavy winter clothes, gets them cleaned and moth-proofed before storing them away. She brings out the lighter summer clothes and has them cleaned too.
For about the same reasons, the smart car owner takes the turn to warmer weather as a signal to "shake out" the car for summer driving. The winter is tough on engine, transmission and battery; it's tough sieiding for just about every part of the car.
Even if it appears to have survived the winter without trouble, this is the time to have one of our mechanics take the time to go over the car from fan belt to exhaust. He can track down any of the little weaknesses you may have spotted—or may not have spotted—through the winter.
For instance, an engine that starts hard and idles too fast may be traced to a broken windshield wiper line.
Slow acceleration when you try to step on the gas may mean only that the carburetor needs to be set for warmer weather.
When there is misfiring, a rough engine and hard starting, you may have dispaired at the engine lasting through another year. Probably isn't the engine at all; more likely the contact points of the distributor are pock-marked or aren't spaced properly.
The warmer weather means you're going to be doing a lot more driving for fun, but it won't be fun if the hotter, longer drives of summer get spoiled because the car, speaking figuratively, is still wearing its long winter underwear.
The important thing is that our factory-trained boys (and how we're proud of them) will find what's wrong, even if you haven't noticed it yet. And, just as important, they'll make the simple, inexpensive adjustments to fix the conditions you may have shuddered over, fearing a major repair bill.

Chas. Reid Will Be Member Of Byrd Expedition

A well known Jacksonville young man, Seaman Charles Reid, recently returned to his ship, the USS Edisto, anchored in the Boston harbor, after spending 10 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lettson Reid, 136 Richards street.

Seaman Reid graduated from the Jacksonville high school in 1954. He received his boot training at the Great Lakes Naval station and was then sent to Boston for duty aboard the Edisto.

SEAMAN REID

The Edisto is an icebreaker and sister ship to the Atka, which was shown late last year on the Dave Garroway T-V program as it was leaving for an Antarctic trip.

Since being aboard the Edisto Seaman Reid has traveled to the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico for two weeks and to the North Atlantic for an eight weeks cruise. During the trip to the North Atlantic he saw the coasts of Greenland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden. After crossing the Arctic Circle he received his membership card as a "Royal Member of the Blue Nose."

Seaman Reid will be stationed in the Boston harbor until June 1 when the Edisto will start a three months cruise to the North Atlantic. During the summer cruise they expect to spend more time in the Hudson Bay area. The Edisto is scheduled to lead the way as the Naval Scientific Expedition headed by Admiral Byrd, leaves for the Antarctic in November of this year. This expedition is slated to cover a period of six to seven months. Seaman Reid is looking forward to the Antarctic Expedition with great interest and anticipation.

Lewis Boddy Is Named President Of Church CWF

The April meeting of the Christian Men's Fellowship of the Central Christian church was held recently at the church conducted by the president, Ernest Savage. The invocation was led by Ben Roodhouse and a very tasty meal was served by CWF group two of which Mrs. Lee Lyons is leader.

Byron Stewart, chairman of the nominating committee reported the following slate of officers: president, Louis Boddy; vice president, Ellis Brant; treasurer, Roy Goodall and secretary, Harvey Jarvis. The approval was unanimous.

The retiring president Savage gave a report on the state convention held recently at Decatur. Rev. John E. Foster, interim minister at the church, spoke giving a short history of the CWF and CWP and their progress to date.

The meeting adjourned with benediction by Byron Stewart.

King Sisavang Vong, of Laos.

EIGHT CANDLES FOR LAOS—The little kingdom of Laos, in northwest Indochina, has been of increasing interest to the Western world since neighboring Viet Nam has been split into Communist and free territories. Struggling desperately to maintain its independence, Laos celebrates its eighth birthday on May 11. Once a French protectorate, Laos was granted independence on July 19, 1946, and the constitution adopted on May 11, 1947. Laos is about the size of Kansas and has three million population—a million more than Kansas. Once called Lanxang—the Land of a Million Elephants—it is mountainous, covered with jungle and has few roads. Rice is the big crop but its chief exports are coffee, tin, teakwood, cattle, benzoin and lame cloth. Due to the Communist threat, the gentle little people of this peace-loving, Buddhist country have in the past five years increased their army from 12,000 to more than 40,000, largely with U. S. aid. While the Chinese Reds at Geneva agreed to respect Laos' independence, it was invaded by the Indochinese Communist army in 1953.
